'THEY MUST HANG', SAYS PROSECUTOR CROWE

MAKES DRAMATIC PLEA IN CASE OF TWO BOY SLAYERS

DEMANDS GALLOWS FOR YOUTHS WHO KILLED YOUNG
FRANKS

CLAIMS MURDER WAS DELIBERATE AND COLD-BLOODED

(By United Press)
Criminal Courtroom, Chicago, Aug. 26.—"They must hang!" This was the reply today of State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe to the dramatic plea of Attorney Clarence Darrow for the lives of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb.

Crowe put the finishing touches to his answer to Darrow and told the United Press he has not been moved a hair from his decision to demand the gallows for the youths who killed Robert Franks, 14.

"This murder was deliberate; it was cold-blooded; it was committed after much calculation and careful planning," he said. "Nothing but the extreme penalty fits this case, and, although I have been deeply impressed by Mr. Darrow's eloquent appeal for mankind in general, I hold that only one punishment fits this crime—and that punishment is death."

Crowe said he would probably take not more than one court day—four hours—to sum up for the state. He may take somewhat longer, depending upon what Benjamin Bachrach, another defense attorney to close for the state, has to say.

Bachrach will take up the psychological aspects of the case at the opening session today. He expects to finish some time tomorrow afternoon, but he said he would make an effort to complete his arguments before the end of the morning session. Crowe said he would start summing up the case when Bachrach concludes. As the program is now, the case should be in the hands of Chief Justice John R. Caverly by Wednesday. Justice Caverly expects to impose sentence in about a week's time.

Darrow's arguments consumed 8 hours or about two court days.

Darrow argued eloquently, tears flowing when he leaned on the bench of Justice Caverly and pleaded for the lives of the youthful clients.

DEFENSE FINISHED ITS ARGUMENTS

Criminal Courtroom, Chicago, Aug. 26.—The defense of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb was completed before Chief Justice John R. Caverly today.

Benjamin Bachrach, personal attorney for the Leopold family, brought the defense case to a close with a brief argument in which he summarized all the testimony presented in an effort to save the two young slayers of Robert Franks from the gallows.

With Bachrach's closing argument was ended one of the most brilliant appeals for mercy in the history of Chicago courts. Defense arguments were opened last Friday by Walter Bachrach, who spoke for three hours. He was followed by the fast-aging Clarence Darrow, "old lion of the defense," who brought tears to the eyes of hundreds of court fans with his vigorous demand for mercy, justice and understanding.

Darrow consumed eight hours with his argument, leaving only a general summary for Benjamin Bachrach today.

When Bachrach finished, Justice Caverly ordered a recess for a few moments following which State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe is to start the closing arguments for the prosecution. Crowe is prepared to argue at least four hours.

BITTER DENUNCIATION OF CLARENCE DARROW

Criminal Courtroom, Chicago, Aug. 26.—Crowe opened his arguments after Benjamin Bachrach had closed for the defense with a bitter denunciation of Clarence Darrow of the defense and a defense of himself and his assistants.

TROPICAL TWISTER LASHES N. C. COAST IN A WIDE SWATH

(By United Press)
Washington, Aug. 26.—The tropical hurricane that lashed the North Carolina coast has careened northeastward, the weather bureau reported today, warning the coastline up to Boston of the approach of the storm.

The gale swept a path 300 miles wide up the coast from the Carolinas during the night but no distress signals from ships at sea were reported by the naval information here today.

Warning was issued of the approaching hurricane yesterday afternoon and many coastal vessels sought shelter before it broke.

FIERY CROSSES UNDER BAN IN CAMP CUSTER

DRASTIC ACTION THREATENED
TODAY BY GENERAL
MOSELEY

SOLDIERS PUT 35 IN THE GUARD-HOUSE FOR INVESTIGATION

(By United Press)
Camp Custer, Mich., Aug. 26.—Drastic action was threatened today by General Mosely, commanding officer at Camp Custer, if another gathering attempts the burning of a fiery cross within the confines of the camp.

At the head of a detachment of soldiers the general routed a large crowd gathered about a burning cross on a hill last night. Most of the crowd had fled by the time the troops arrived but about 35 persons were held in the guardhouse for investigation. The majority of them, however, are believed merely to have been spectators. General Mosely has issued a warning against further gatherings in the camp.

Darrow said that Thomas Marshall has no heart or if he had it was a heart of stone. My other assistant, Joseph P. Savage, he said was heartless.

"Tom Marshall is a lovable man, a man of family and respected by all who know him. Joseph Savage is also a kindly man and a man of family. I also am a family man. I love my four children and love my wife, and I believe they love me."

Then he deprecated the non-belief in God of the "young murderers."

"As the judge of this court, you have no right to forgive anyone who trespasses against the state of Illinois," State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe thundered at Chief Justice John R. Caverly in demanding the death penalty for Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb. "You have no right to forgive anyone brought before this court for trespassing the law. You must deal with him as the law prescribes." Again and again Crowe walked near the boys, and with fists raised high thundered denunciation after denunciation upon them.

"This young fool, Nathan Leopold, says there is no God," Crowe shouted. "What, young Nathan, can you believe it was, pure accident or divine Providence, that caused you to drop those glasses so that the law of the state of Illinois could be prosecuted and the wrath of God visited upon your miserable carcasses?"

Turning his attention back to Judge Caverly Crowe denounced the testimony of the four defense alienists who said that they found Loeb and Leopold "mentally irresponsible."

FARMERS STATE BANK OF ROUND LAKE IS ROBBED

SOME $750 IN LIBERTY
BONDS

SIX BANDITS USED THREE CHARGES OF NITRO-GLYCERINE

(By United Press)
Worthington, Minn., Aug. 26.—The Farmers State Bank of Round Lake, 12 miles southeast of here, was robbed of between $800 and $900 in cash and possibly $750 worth of Liberty bonds by six bandits about 2 a. m. today.

The bandits broke open a safe in the office of the bank but did not attempt to open the main vault. Three charges of nitro-glycerine were used, the first being set off at 1:40 a. m. Some damage was done to the interior and furnishings of the bank but officials did not estimate it at more than $1,000.

A man living near the bank heard a noise outside. He turned on the lights in his home and was ordered by the robbers to turn off the lights. They informed him they would "blow off his head," at the same time telling him they were robbing the bank. No one else in town was awakened and it is not known in what direction the bandits left.

Before entering the bank they had cut all wires leading to the town and it was some time before word could be brought to the sheriff's office.

The sheriff's office here was unable to give any clue as to the probable direction of the robber car, but all roads have been ordered watched.

BANDITS BIND, GAG GIRL, DRAG HER FROM HOME

Milwaukee, Aug. 26.—Police today continued their search for two bandits who yesterday bound and gagged Miss Catherine Thompson, 23, after she had been seized at her home and dragged into the yard in the rear of the apartment where she lived.

The young woman's hands were bound with a cord from her bath robe and a towel had been thrust into her mouth.

She was clad only in a bathrobe and undergarments, having just completed her bath as she was seized by the two men, who, she told police, were armed.

The sound of some one approaching caused them to drop her, as she was being dragged from the rear yard.

The girl lost consciousness, and was later found by Bry Nelson, another occupant of the apartment building.

MINIATURE REPLICAS OF RANGER'S CABIN BECOMES BIRD HOUSE

Washington, Aug. 27.—Former Forest Ranger Bill Dorrington of Glacier National Park, when he quit the service to tame bronchos for the safe transportation of summer tourists, devoted his moments of relaxation to the construction of a miniature replica of his forest ranger's cabin. This he has set up on a pole as a bird house in front of his ranch home at Babb, Montana.

This is the second season of its installation and the feathery tribe of the wilds all fight for possession of this shelter offered by the hand of civilization. The Bureau of National Parks has been asked to consider the advisability of installing bird houses for the protection of bird life in all the national parks.

AMERICAN FLIERS TO BRIDGE FINAL GAP ON THURSDAY

(By United Press)
Aboard the U. S. S. Richmond, Aug. 26.—The final gap between the American and the world aviators and American shores will be bridged Thursday, according to advices received by Admiral Magruder from Lieut. Lowell Smith. The two pilots, now at Ivigtut, are installing new engines in their planes. As soon as the installation is completed, the two fliers will take off for Indian Harbor, Labrador.

ITALIANS HUDDLED 4 DAYS UNDER PLANE

Aboard the U. S. S. Richmond, Aug. 26.—For four days Lieut. Locatelli, Italian airman and his three companions huddled in the shelter of their huge airplane, unaware of American cruisers nearby, and waited for rescuers to take them out of the storm-tossed Arctic waters. Locatelli and his three aides today are aboard the Richmond. They were saved last Sunday afternoon when green rockets sent up from the plane were seen by the crew of the Richmond, and are en route from Labrador. Locatelli was forced down last Thursday just in front of the American cruiser Raleigh. The four men on the plane saw the cruiser but owing to the heavy fog the crew of the Raleigh could not see the mishap to the airplane, and the fliers were forced to wait in the hope of rescue.

Every few minutes some of the crew would crawl through the manhole to the swinging wings and scan the sea. Rockets were sent up from time to time, and a cruiser passed nearby just out of vision, obscured by the fog and rain.

From time to time the aviators sent up green rockets and late Sunday one of these attracted the attention of the Richmond. A red one was sent up from the cruiser, and a red flag was raised on the plane.

The Richmond turned powerful searchlight on the airplane and Lieut. Locatelli could be seen standing on the bow of the tossing yellow monoplane. The other aviators were on the tail of the alrship. Locatelli started shouting the famous fascist cry, "Al-lala."

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Aug. 26.—A hopeless disagreement today caused abandonment of the Interstate Commerce Commission's hearing on Pullman fare question. Statistical experts were in hopeless disagreement as a result of the startling earnings figures introduced by federal accountants yesterday.

An effort will be made to "get together" at Washington September 26 and 27, it was announced by J. B. Campbell, member of the commission.

Peggy's Process Servers Run Down Her Count
in Bevy of Debutantes

New York, Aug. 26.—Peggy Joyce can now go ahead with her court proceedings to free herself from her latest husband, the Count Costa Morner, former tooth paste manufacturer, now said to be selling insurance.

The count was served with the papers in his wife's suit for separation at a party given in his honor at the exclusive Forest Hills inn, on Long Island.

The blond Peggy's process servers who had searched for the count for more than a month, caught him as he was talking to a bevy of debutantes, causing the nobleman to wax exceedingly wroth.

DEMOCRATS GIVE DAVIS AN OVATION

KLAN ISSUE CAUSES GREAT BIT-TERNESS IN THE GATHER-ING

(By United Press)
Memorial Hall, Columbus, O., Aug. 26.—The democratic state convention, rent by the Klan issue, gave John W. Davis, democratic presidential candidate, a mighty ovation when he addressed it today, hammering home the issues of the presidential campaign.

Although Davis wished to avoid further reference to the Klan issue he walked into a situation filled with bitterness over the Klan question.

When the candidate reached Memorial Hall the anti-Klan element of Ohio democracy had adopted a plank in the state platform denouncing the Klan by name and employing much of the language used by Davis in his Seagirt speech in which he condemned the Klan.

Before Davis began speaking, Jas. M. Cox, who was ex-governor of Ohio and democratic standard-bearer in 1920, was given an ovation by the convention. This was followed by an ovation for Mr. Davis, who was introduced by Cox. Cox introduced Davis as a crusader "pledged to the cause of honesty, justice in domestic affairs and broad humanity in all foreign relations."

He compared Davis in ability and character to Jefferson, Adams and Wilson.

PHILADELPHIA MINT MAKES POLISH COINS

(By United Press)
Philadelphia, Aug. 26.—The Philadelphia mint soon will be making for Poland approximately $5,000,000 worth of zlotzies, a new Polish coin, equivalent to 19.3 cents in American money.

Only once before has the United States been called upon to do work of this kind for a European country—that was during the war when coins were turned out for French Indo-China by the mint here. The Philadelphia mint has made coins for South American countries for many years, however.

Since the war, Poland has done the majority of her business in paper money, and the new coins will be equivalent to the French franc and the Rumanian leu.

Dies have been made and forwarded to the Polish government for approval. They are expected to be returned within a month, accompanied by a contract for the production of the coins.

PASTOR DEFENDS ALLEGED IMMORAL DANCES OF CHILDREN

Pomeroy, O., Aug. 26.—Boys and girls who dance by the inspiration of the Lord, do no wrong.

This was the statement of Rev. Thomas Spear, pastor of the Pentecostal Holiness church, who today came to the defense of more than 40 members of his flock, facing charges of contributing to the delinquency of their own children.

The state charges the parents encouraged their children to participate in immoral dances, as a part of the church service. The children were imbued by the "spirit of the Lord" and were doing only what he instructed, Rev. Spear said today.

"They often do strange things," the pastor continued. "The first woman to receive the spirit was knocked unconscious."

Formal hearing on the charges against the church members has been set for Thursday.

Meantime the church is padlocked.

ARREST 39 PLOTTERS AIMING OVERTHROW SOVIET GOVERNMENT

(By United Press)
Moscow, Aug. 26.—Government agents in Vladivostok have arrested 39 leaders of a plot to overthrow the Soviet and re-establish the monarchy, according to information here today.

The leaders included the Grand Duke Nicholas, brother of the late czar and the Grand Duke Cyril, the czar's cousin.

The conspirators were connected with monarchistic centers in Harbin and Paris and hoped to discredit the Soviet by banditry and organized raids.

TION

(By United Press)
Jamestown, N. D., Aug. 26.—Jamestown—the childhood home of Secretary of the Navy Wilbur—today turned out en masse to greet the former distinguished citizen.

The downtown section of the city had been decorated and presented an air of a holiday. All business houses were closed.

This is Secretary Wilbur's first visit here since he left 40 years ago to enter the naval academy.

He was met at the depot by a large delegation of friends and former acquaintances and Wilbur greeted them all cordially and chatted with them until Mr. and Mrs. John Bolinger took him for an auto ride about the city.

BAR OWNER ASKS COURT TO LET HIM BECOME A GROCER

St. Paul, Aug. 26.—Effect of the federal drive against soft drink parlors was felt today when two owners applied in federal court for a modification of the injunction against their premises.

Judge John F. McGee took the matter under advisement and will announce his decision shortly, it was said.

Robert A. Uihlein and Louis Kanef asked to be allowed to remove the fixtures and remodel the building at 315 W. 7th st. into a grocery store.

Federal authorities are continuing the drive against soft drink places where convictions have been secured. Service of papers to show cause why an injunction should not be granted has been made to the owners of approximately 40 soft drink places in St. Paul. Twenty more will be served this week.

George Hejsey, assistant United States attorney, is proceeding with orders against 250 soft drink places throughout the state as fast as the orders can be got out.

MAN INSISTS HE'S PARALYZED AFTER SWALLOWING A FLY

St. Paul, Aug. 26.—The police ambulance has answered calls to aid persons afflicted with many strange maladies.

But it remained for Le Roy Martin 194 Eaton st., yesterday afternoon to discover the most ingenious.

When the police surgeon arrived, he found Martin hysterical.

He had swallowed a fly, became sick and insisted the fly had poisoned him, and one leg was paralyzed.

The physician looked him over and pronounced him all right.

CREAMERY CO. ROBBERS
TO ESCAPE

Mrs. L. L. O'Neil, known also as Mrs. Frank Stern, held as a suspect in the Crescent Creamery Co. holdup in St. Paul last spring, today was identified as Ruth Dunn, says the St. Paul Daily News.

Under that name she was arrested in St. Paul in August, 1920, for shoplifting, and sentenced to the Shakopee reformatory, police said. She also was arrested earlier in 1920, they say, in Des Moines.

Clarence Speakman and L. L. O'Neil, the two men held with the woman for the robbery, are still at central station, being questioned by police. They will be sent to court today or tomorrow.

Two bandits obtained $2,500 in the holdup early this year. Mrs. O'Neil is suspected of being one of two women who helped the bandits make their escape.

The woman was one of a quartet arrested by Crow Wing county authorities for alleged thieving at the Rutger store in Bay Lake, later followed by charges of taking an Essex automobile from a Superior, Wis., man. Before the charges here could be tried, St. Paul detectives took the three mentioned to St. Paul.

Paul Donahue, four member, is in Crow Wing county jail, to await the action of the district court on the charge of grand larceny.

WOMAN SAILS FREIGHTER ON PACIFIC LANES

(By United Press)
Portland, Ore., Aug. 26.—The big freighter Atlantic, of the Pan-Pacific line, is somewhere on the Pacific ocean with a woman at the helm—for part time, at least.

Miss Helen Olsen, comely, 21-year-old daughter of Captain O. Olsen, skipper of the big steamer, is a seaman on board the vessel, and at times takes the wheel with the other quartermasters.

She is on the ship's payroll, too, and therefore is a full-fledged seaman in the eyes of the United States.

"Commodore" Montgomery, veteran shipping commissioner who has grown old in the service at the customs house here declared firmly that "nary a woman" had ever before signed on as a sailor in his experience.

The pretty young mariner will sail with the vessel from here to west coast ports of South America and return to Portland via New York.

"I'd like to be a captain some day, just like my daddy," she said, when asked whether she thought she would like the trip.

"I'd never be anybody's stenographer when I can get a job like this."

Sinister Motive Seen in Purchase of Baby by Doctor's Assistant

New York, Aug. 26.—Because she sold her 10 months old baby for $300—saying she was too poor to keep it—Mrs. Agnes Mack is in jail in Brooklyn.

The purchaser of the baby, Irving Dathe, also is in jail. Both are held in $10,000 bond, pending further hearing of the case.

Dathe, a physician's assistant, must have had some sinister motive in purchasing the baby, the magistrate said. Dathe has been identified as the son of Baroness Reichsperin Victorine Wolff von Zee und Todenmarch of Hamburg.

Criminal Courtroom, Chicago, Aug. 26.—The defense of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb was completed before Chief Justice John R. Caverly today.

Benjamin Bachrach, personal attorney for the Leopold family, brought the defense case to a close with a brief argument in which he summarized all the testimony presented in an effort to save the two young slayers of Robert Franks from the gallows.

With Bachrach's closing argument was ended one of the most brilliant appeals for mercy in the history of Chicago courts. TION(By United Press)
Camp Custer, Mich., Aug. 26.—Drastic action was threatened today by General Mosely, commanding officer at Camp Custer, if another gathering attempts the burning of a fiery cross within the confines of the camp.

At the head of a detachment of soldiers the general routed a large crowd gathered about a burning cross on a hill last night. Most of the crowd had fled by the time the troops arrived but about 35 persons were held in the guardhouse for investigation. The majority of them, however, are believed merely to have been spectators. General Mosely has issued a warning against further gatherings in the camp.

Darrow said that Thomas Marshall has no heart or if he had it was a heart of stone. My other assistant, Joseph P. Savage, he said was heartless.

"Tom Marshall is a lovable man, a man of family and respected by all who know him. Joseph Savage is also a kindly man and a man of family. I also am a family man. I love my four children and love my wife, and I believe they love me."

Then he deprecated the non-belief in God of the "young murderers."

"As the judge of this court, you have no right to forgive anyone who trespasses against the state of Illinois," State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe thundered at Chief Justice John R. Caverly in demanding the death penalty for Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb. "You have no right to forgive anyone brought before this court for trespassing the law. "What, young Nathan, can you believe it was, pure accident or divine Providence, that caused you to drop those glasses so that the law of the state of Illinois could be prosecuted and the wrath of God visited upon your miserable carcasses?"

Turning his attention back to Judge Caverly Crowe denounced the testimony of the four defense alienists who said that they found Loeb and Leopold "mentally irresponsible."

"Three wise men came out of the east," Crowe declared, referring to Doctors William White of Washington, William Healy of Boston and Bernard Gineck of New York. The fourth alienist, Dr. Harold Burlburt, is a Chicago physician.

Memorial Hall, Columbus, O., Aug. 26.—The democratic state convention, rent by the Klan issue, gave John W. Davis, democratic presidential candidate, a mighty ovation when he addressed it today, hammering home the issues of the presidential campaign.

Although Davis wished to avoid further reference to the Klan issue he walked into a situation filled with bitterness over the Klan question.

When the candidate reached Memorial Hall the anti-Klan element of Ohio democracy had adopted a plank in the state platform denouncing the Klan by name and employing much of the language used by Davis in his Seagirt speech in which he condemned the Klan.

Before Davis began speaking, Jas. M. Cox, who was ex-governor of Ohio and democratic standard-bearer in 1920, was given an ovation by the convention. This was followed by an ovation for Mr. Davis, who was introduced by Cox. Cox introduced Davis as a crusader "pledged to the cause of honesty, justice in domestic affairs and broad humanity in all foreign relations."

He compared Davis in ability and character to Jefferson, Adams and Wilson.

PHILADELPHIA
MINT MAKES
POLISH COINS(By United Press)
Philadelphia, Aug. 26.—The Philadelphia mint soon will be making for Poland approximately $5,000,000 worth of zloties, a new Polish coin, equivalent to 19.3 cents in American money.

Only once before has the United States been called upon to do work of this kind for a European country—that was during the war when coins were turned out for French Indo-China by the mint here. The Philadelphia mint has made coins for South American countries for many years, however.

Since the war, Poland has done the majority of her business in paper money, and the new coins will be equivalent to the French franc and the Rumanian leu.

Dies have been made and forwarded to the Polish government for approval. They are expected to be returned within a month, accompanied by a contract for the production of the coins.

PASTOR DEFENDS ALLEGED IMMORAL
DANCES OF CHILDREN

Pomeroy, O., Aug. 26.—"Boys and girls who dance by the inspiration of the Lord, do no wrong."

This was the statement of Rev. Thomas Spear, pastor of the Pentacostal Holiness church, who today came to the defense of more than 40 members of his flock, facing charges of contributing to the delinquency of their own children.

The state charges the parents encouraged their children to participate in immoral dances, as a part of the church service. The children were imbued by the "spirit of the Lord" and were doing only what he instructed, Rev. Spear said today.

"They often do strange things," the pastor continued. "The first woman to receive the spirit was knocked unconscious."

Formal hearing on the charges against the church members has been set for Thursday. Meantime the church is padlocked.

ARREST 39 PLOTTERS
AIMING OVERTHROW
SOVIET GOVERNMENT(By United Press)
Moscow, Aug. 26.—Government agents in Vladivostok have arrested 39 leaders of a plot to overthrow the Soviet and re-establish the monarchy, according to information here today.

The leaders included the Grand Duke Nicholas, brother of the late czar and the Grand Duke Cyril, the czar's cousin.

The conspirators were connected with monarchistic centers in Harbin and Paris and hoped to discredit the Soviet by banditry and organized raids.

SECRETARY WIL-BURLARGE CROWDS GREET HIM AT THE RAILWAY STA-TION(By United Press)
Jamestown, N. D., Aug. 26.—Jamestown—the childhood home of Secretary of the Navy Wilbur—today turned out en masse to greet the former distinguished citizen.

The downtown section of the city had been decorated and presented an air of a holiday. All business houses were closed.

This is Secretary Wilbur's first visit here since he left 40 years ago to enter the naval academy.

He was met at the depot by a large delegation of friends and former acquaintances and Wilbur greeted them all cordially and chatted with them until Mr. and Mrs. John Bolinger took him for an auto ride about the city.

BAR OWNER ASKS
COURT TO LET HIM
BECOME A GROCER

St. Paul, Aug. 26.—Effect of the federal drive against soft drink parlors was felt today when two owners applied in federal court for a modification of the injunction against their premises.

Judge John F. McGee took the matter under advisement and will announce his decision shortly, it was said.

Robert A. Uihlein and Louis Kanef asked to be allowed to remove the fixtures and remodel the building at 315 W. 7th st. into a grocery store.

Federal authorities are continuing the drive against soft drink places where convictions have been secured. Service of papers to show cause why an injunction should not be granted has been made to the owners of approximately 40 soft drink places in St. Paul. Twenty more will be served this week.

George Hejasey, assistant United States attorney, is proceeding with orders against 250 soft drink places throughout the state as fast as the orders can be got out.

MAN INSISTS HE'S PARALYZED AFTER SWALLOWING A FLY

St. Paul, Aug. 26.—The police ambulance has answered calls to aid persons afflicted with many strange maladies.

But it remained for Le Roy Martin 194 Eaton st., yesterday afternoon to discover the most ingenious.

When the police surgeon arrived, he found Martin hysterical.

He had swallowed a fly, became sick and insisted the fly had poisoned him, and one leg was paralyzed.

The physician looked him over and pronounced him all right.

ST. PAUL POLICE
IDENTIFY HER
AND CITE RECORDWAS MEMBER OF QUARTET AR-RESTED AT BAY
LAKEALSO SUSPECTED OF AIDING THE CREAMERY CO. ROBBERS
TO ESCAPE

Mrs. L. L. O'Neill, known also as Mrs. Frank Stern, held as a suspect in the Crescent Creamery Co. holdup in St. Paul last spring, today was identified as Ruth Dunn, says the St. Paul Daily News.

Under that name she was arrested in St. Paul in August, 1920, for shoplifting, and sentenced to the Shakopee reformatory, police said. She also was arrested earlier in 1920, they say, in Des Moines.

Clarence Speakman and L. L. O'Neill, the two men held with the woman for the robbery, are still at central station, being questioned by police. They will be sent to court today or tomorrow.

Two bandits obtained $2,500 in the holdup early this year. Mrs. O'Neill is suspected of being one of two women who helped the bandits make their escape.

The woman was one of a quartet arrested by Crow Wing county authorities for alleged thieving at the Rutger store in Bay Lake, later followed by charges of taking an Essex automobile from a Superior, Wis., man. Before the charges here could be tried, St. Paul detectives took the three mentioned to St. Paul.

Paul Donahue, four member, is in Crow Wing county jail, to await the action of the district court on the charge of grand larceny.

WOMAN SAILS
FREIGHTER ON
PACIFIC LANES(By United Press)
Portland, Ore., Aug. 26.—The big freighter Atlantic, of the Pan-Pacific line, is somewhere on the Pacific ocean with a woman at the helm—for part time, at least.

Miss Helen Olsen, comely, 21-year-old daughter of Captain O. Olsen, skipper of the big steamer, is a seaman on board the vessel, and at times takes the wheel with the other quartermasters.

She is on the ship's payroll, too, and therefore is a full-fledged seaman in the eyes of the United States.

"Commodore" Montgomery, veteran shipping commissioner who has grown old in the service at the customs house here declared firmly that "nary a woman" had ever before signed on as a sailor in his experience.

The pretty young mariner will sail with the vessel from here to west coast ports of South America and return to Portland via New York.

"I'd like to be a captain some day, just like my daddy," she said, when asked whether she thought she would like the trip.

"I'd never be anybody's stenographer when I can get a job like this."

Sinister Motive Seen in Purchase of Baby
by Doctor's Assistant

New York, Aug. 26.—Because she sold her 10 months old baby for $300—saying she was too poor to keep it—Mrs. Agnes Mack is in jail in Brooklyn.

The purchaser of the baby, Irving Dathe, also is in jail. Both are held in $10,000 bond, pending further hearing of the case.

Dathe, a physician's assistant, must have had some sinister motive in purchasing the baby, the magistrate said. Dathe has been identified as the son of Baroness Reichsperin Victorine Wolff von Zee und Todenmarch of Hamburg.

FANCY WORK

100 YEARS OLD

Rare Heirlooms to be Exhibited at Flower and Garden Show, Lum Park

PAVILION HOUSES EXHIBITION

Flower and Garden Display of N. E. Brainerd League Opened This Afternoon

On Monday it was announced that there would be fancy work displayed at the flower and garden exhibit of the Northeast Brainerd Improvement League that was seventy years old. This morning a piece was placed on exhibition that is said to be over one hundred years old, and came originally from Hungary. It hangs on the south wall of the pavilion and is made up of a great number of pieces.

The exhibit which is put on under the auspices of the League is being held at Lum park this afternoon and evening. The display is a decided credit to the children and grown folks of Northeast Brainerd, and everyone is urged to view it.

The weekly band concert, the last one of this season, will be held at Lum park tonight, and Director W. R. Hiller plans to play several pieces in the pavilion. There will be some special music honoring Chief "Ain't Gonna Rain No Mo'."

The program for this evening's concert is as follows:

1. March, "Kiefer's Special," Arthur Pryor.
2. Overture, "Panorama," by Barnhouse.
3. Intermezzo, "After Sunset," Arthur Pryor.
4. Foxtrot, selected.
5. March "Craiser Omaha," King.
6. "A Hot Time in the Old Town," special number, being a fantasia burlesque on the old popular song by the same name.
7. Overture, "Crown Prince," Barnard.
8. Foxtrot, selected.
9. Serenade, "Cunning Cupid," Alletier.
10. March, "Greater Purdue," Emrich.
11. Overture, "The Admiral," Russell.
12. Star Spangled Banner.

The exhibits of flowers and garden vegetables is much larger and of a better quality than had even been anticipated. In the children's display there are about seventy-five flowers and some fifty vegetable exhibits.

At least one hundred displays of flowers are made by grown-ups, who are competing for the sack of Ocident flour, donated by Alderman George Cain.

The fancy work department is demanding much of the attention from all ladies who are visiting the exhibit. There are more than 125 pieces on display. Seven quilts and a number of handmade rugs complete this exhibit.

At three o'clock this afternoon the attendance had far exceeded anything that had been anticipated, and all are loud in their praise of the efforts put forth in bringing such an exhibit together. It is felt that this is a remarkable display for one section of the city to make.

Alderman H. F. Michael has visited the exhibit and states that it should draw very large attendance. He urges all Rotarians to visit the display.

"The Covered Wagon" is coming back to the New Park at popular prices. Watch for dates. 691f

BRAINERD BOY'S BAND AT FAIR

Organization Signally Honored by Being Made Official Band at County Fair at Pequot

TO BE FEATURED TWO DAYS

Entries Pouring in From All Parts of County, Placed on Exhibit
Wednesday Morning

The Brainerd Boys Band has been signally honored, by being made the official musical organization of the Crow Wing County Fair, which opens tomorrow at Pequot. The first plans were to have the boys band play on Thursday, "Brainerd Day," and the Crosby band for Friday, "Range Day." This plan has been changed, so that the local band will be featured on both Thursday and Friday.

Entries are pouring in from all parts of the county, and will be placed on exhibit on Wednesday morning. Contrary to the opinion of many, who thought that because of the backward season there will be little to exhibit, county fair authorities state that there will be a fine display of products from this county.

Pumpkins and squash and other garden vegetables have ripened, and will command their usual place among the exhibits, as will also fruits and grains. The only disappointment that is possible is that there will be little or no corn, as this is rather early in the season for this crop.

The fair directors are exceptionally proud of the entertainment that they have provided for this year's fair. Headlining the list is the auto-pushball contest, in which four especially equipped automobiles push a large leather-covered ball around the field.

This is the first year that auto pushball has been featured, and now only at the larger state fair. It will be shown at no other county fair than the one at Pequot. Crow Wing county was fortunate in being able to secure an open date that the players had between the North Dakota and the Minnesota state fairs. The game is said to be full of new thrills. It is not at all unusual for one of the cars to be crowded on top of the big ball and have a second car go under the sphere at the same time. Of course there is a tipover, but two extra men for each car soon right it, and the game goes merrily on.

An exceptionally fine list of speakers has been secured. On Thursday afternoon Hon. Harold Knutson will address the fair visitors, and on Thursday evening Thomas Schall, the blind congressman, will speak. It is hoped to secure Theodore Christensen, Republican nominee for governor, to speak on Friday, using as his subject the tax question, upon which he is considered an authority.

Senator Magnus Johnson will speak on the last evening of the fair, and the directors are making an effort to secure C. S. Shipstead, the farmer-labor candidate for congress, either for Thursday or Friday.

REGISTRATION DAY AT HIGH SCHOOL SATURDAY, AUG. 30

Miss Mary Tornstrom, principal of the Brainerd high school, has returned from her vacation, and announces that Saturday, August 30, has been designated as registration day for students who expect to enter the high school this year. These students are to be at the Washington building on Saturday morning between the hours of 9 and 12 o'clock to register as Freshmen, for the coming year.

The following subjects are open to those starting the Freshman year: Required subjects, English I and Algebra; Elective subjects, Science I, Latin I, Ancient History, Manual Training I, Cookery I, and Commercial Arithmetic.

The Brainerd schools will open on Tuesday, September 2, with a larger enrollment than last year, it is reported. For this reason it is hoped that all Freshmen will register on Saturday morning, so that the number entering the high school may be known in plenty of time to make all preparations before the opening day.

To Repair Bridge

Commissioners Olson, Jones and Walker recently viewed the bridge near the Ole Peterson place, which for some time has been sadly in need of repair. The Commissioners state that the piers have rotted to such an extent that immediate repair is necessary. This will be done as soon as possible we are told.—Pillager Herald.

PROGRAM BASED

ON "INLAND SEA"

Ladies of Missionary Society of First Congregational Church Meet at Lake Home

GUESTS OF MRS. E. P. SLIPP

Features of Japanese Relief Are Studied, Interesting Papers Are Read

The ladies of the missionary society of the First Congregational church, who met on Thursday afternoon at the summer home of Mrs. E. P. Slipp, Gull lake, assisted in the carrying out of an interesting program, based upon "The Inland Sea," and was as follows:

In referring to the map of Japan, it was shown that between the mainland and the large island of Shikoku, there stretches for 150 miles the "Sea within the Straits." This sea is crowded with many groups of islands, which form a little world of 1,500,000 souls. The scenery in this region is such that it is said to make a picture that tantalizes the writer's pen and the artist's brush, its fame having gone forth to the ends of the earth.

The occupation of these islanders is shown in their terracing the sides of the hills and mountains, which often rise out of the sea for a thousand feet, and causes them to produce food stuffs. They also weave and quarry, and that the machine age has not yet dawned upon them is evinced by the primitive hand implements which their fathers and their fathers' fathers used. Fishing is also common, and in this simple way they live, in most things being twenty-five years behind their brothers on the main island.

It is here that Japan's old civilization, with its virtues and its vices still to a large degree hold sway. This whole atmosphere is full of pagan faiths, which control the religious thinking of the people.

It was fully fifty years after Japan ceased being a hermit nation, before these islanders received the "good news," which was made possible as "God works a wonder," told by Mrs. R. Duerr. Four different means were employed, viz: a missionary on the mainland, a missionary society in America, a man in Scotland interested in missions and a mariner in England who was willing to go forth as the pioneer missionary in abeyance to the divine command.

Mrs. Kaley, in her usual impressive manner, read "The pioneer at his post," which revealed this man as Captain Bickel, who with his wife in 1898 reached Japan and under his direction the logs from the forests or water soaked along the shore at Yokohama were transformed into a spick and span schooner. He also acquired a fluency in the use of the baffling Japanese language, which was quite necessary in supervising carpenters and coolies in so important a piece of construction. Finally the "Gospel Ship" set out to sea. He believed that God would open the way for his method of attack, that men would respond to the call and truth, and that the gospel would work wonders.

"The Tide Comes In," was discussed by Mrs. Irma C. Hartley, and showed the skipper, Captain Bickel, steering his ship into prejudice and suspicion, this moral and spiritual darkness, fighting with tide and wind with tire and storm, being many a full night at the helm. On many occasions he tramped with a crushing pack upon his back across fields and over mountain paths for many a thousand miles.

But with years of quiet working and waiting, the tide began to turn and the heart of the Inland Sea opens wide and welcoming. A church was organized whose membership grew to three hundred persons scattered over the sixty islands which Captain Bickel had touched. Four thousand children were enrolled in a hundred Sunday schools. There were 450 towns and villages reached and 60,000 people definitely brought under the influence of Christian truth. The captain's passing in 1918, after twenty years of service was that of a victor. Men sang as they wept and through tears they raised their voices in praise.

This study closed with a short reading, "Fishing for men in the Inland Sea," from "Creative forces in Japan," by Mrs. Harry Wilson, and told of the wonderful conversion of the most hardened member of the crew, of the Gospel Ship, who became a crude but powerful evangelist.

In a reading, "Japan at the parting of the ways," from "King's Highway," by Mrs. Walter Folsom, the question was asked, "Which will control Japan, Christianity or materialism?" This further stated, "The solemn responsibility for the answer rests upon American Christians as upon no body in the whole world."

An interesting story, "The Basket that opened a Door," was told by Mrs. Dan Smith, and revealed a group of Congregational women nearly one hundred years ago, meeting regularly to pray that Japan might be opened to the preaching of the gospel.

The program closed with a short poem, "The Call," given by Mrs. John Woodhead. During the social hour which followed, refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by the Misses Esther and Joy Crandall. Six visitors were present.

Attention was called to the deep loss sustained by the missionary society with the passing of Mrs. A. E. Losey, and that of Miss Robinson leaving town, to which reference was made at a previous meeting. Mrs. Losey was known to be deeply interested in missions, being always present at the meetings, willing to do and give of her service and means open her home and in every way doing all in her power to help in carrying on the work, proving not only a valuable help but an inspiration. It can truly be said of her, "She hath done what she could."

Manager of United Press Bureau Visits Bemidji

D. D. Meredith, manager of the St. Paul office of the United Press associations, spent a few hours in Bemidji today on an auto tour of Northern Minnesota, his first visit to this section of the state. Mr. and Mrs. Meredith are enjoying their annual vacation and report a very enjoyable trip, which included points in Iowa before coming to this section of Minnesota. They planned to go to Lake Winnepigoshish this afternoon then to the Iron Range, the Superior National Forest, the North Shore region and Duluth.—Bemidji Daily Pioneer.

TOURIST CAMP IS POPULAR

No Falling Off in Attendance Since
Free System Was Succeeded by Small Charge

WINNIPEG MAN'S TRIBUTE

Thanks For Courtesies Extended and
Will Tell All His Friends of
Accommodations

The Brainerd tourist camp is proving to be just as popular among summer visitors this year, under the system of charging for accommodations, as it was last season when the camp facilities were free.

The following letter, written to the Brainerd park board by C. E. Ushe, of Winnipeg, Manitoba, is typical of others that have been received and voices the sentiment of the majority of tourists who have stopped at the local camp:

"Dear Sir: On behalf of my family and myself, I wish to thank you for the welcome extended to us at your tourist camp. I may say that yours is one of the most convenient camps I have seen, and I shall consider it a pleasure to tell my friends about the Brainerd camp."

A. G. Keen, who has been caretaker at the camp since it was started a year ago last spring, has resigned, and Lloyd Lewis, son of W. E. Lewis, is now in charge. Lloyd is a student at the state university, and is earning money to help defray the expenses of his education. Mr. Keen has not been well for some time, and found that the long hours and the work were too hard for a man of his years.

While the Brainerd tourist camp is conceded to be one of the finest and best equipped in the Northwest, and is one of the very few that has all modern conveniences, still the park board is planning more improvements to be installed this fall and winter, to be ready for the opening of the 1925 tourist season.

One of the improvements that the board has in mind, but which has not as yet been definitely planned, is a community center for the camp, where the visitors can congregate during the day or evening, write letters, read, have music, and hold their social functions. It would be a large building with a substantial roof and floor, but open on the sides. Such a building has proven very successful in many camps.

Drills Will Operate

A report is current here that the Longyear company will begin drilling operations on the Preston property about one and a half miles north-east of this village. According to the report the drills, three in number, will begin operation the first of September. Should the findings prove satisfactory, the Preston mine will be opened up, possibly by the first of the year.—Trommald Times.

"Caesar" Once Family Name

The name "Caesar" was the family name of the first five Roman emperors, originating in Sextus Julius Caesar, who was a praetor, 208 B. C. The family became extinct with Nero in 68 A. D., and the title "Caesar" became simply a title of dignity. Both Augustus Caesar, born September, 63 B. C., who died in August of the year 14 A. D., and Tiberius ruled during the life of Christ. Augustus was reigning at the time of the birth of Christ.

Acoustic Experiment

A very pretty experiment in acoustics can be achieved by the use of a child's tin horn. Tie a sheet of thin paper firmly over the big end, hold the horn so that the paper is level, scatter over it a little fine sand or lycopodium powder, then sing a note into the horn. You will find that the powder has formed itself into an intricate geometrical figure. It was in this way that the first voice pictures were obtained.

Colonizing New Guinea

To Dress and Look Cool on Sultry Summer Days

Life nowadays is altogether too much fussed-up. We all admit it. But you have no idea how, taking your courage in hand, you can pull off the silly old outer coverings, and get at something tolerably simple. Just for one example, observes a writer in the Woman's Home Companion: If your hair is hot and heavy on your head and hard to keep in order, cut some of it out. Don't be afraid. Maybe your husband does admire it. He doesn't have to take care of it.

The first thing to do if you have long heavy hair is to shorten it. What's the use of carrying around a lot of old hair, anyway? It just wads up in a bunch on your head and acts like a warming pan. But if your hair grows thickly on your head, shortening doesn't cool you off very much. My suggestion then is that you have some one thin it out for you carefully, much as you'd thin out the carrot row in the early summer. Cut small pieces out close to the scalp in several places, being careful to take it from underneath where the cut-out regions will be well concealed by your coiffure. Don't cut the hair that grows low on the neck.

Delightfully refreshing for hot weather, too, are the scented hair lotions which have all the cooling virtues of toilet water but are especially adapted for the hair. A few drops on your scalp around the edges of the hair seem to take away that hot, damp feeling.

Baths are one thing that you can't very well cut down in hot weather. But any day, you know, you can save enough puttering or worry time for one good bath. And what a boon a bathtub is in hot weather—a bathtub filled without skimping, and smelling like a lemon meringue all on account of a handful of vervene bath salts. Filling a tub, however, one can still be cool. A hand basin of water, an ordinary wash cloth, and a spoonful of toilet water makes a sponge bath that takes off several degrees of heat. And just an ordinary air bath, sans clothes, is a wonderful fresher. It's a very good thing, especially in summer, to remove your clothes for a little while each day, and let your pores get a good, deep breath of air.

Lace Mitts Take Place in Fashions of Summer

Like a remnant of finery from the fashions of olden times are the pretty lace mitts that have suddenly become the last word in summer styles. Of course, old ladies have always worn mitts, and the more conservative shops have continued to humor their fancy and retain their patronage. But the revival of mitts had a definite starting point in an English wedding at which the bride wore long mitts of exquisite white lace and the bridesmaids shorter mitts of silk in an open lace pattern, of a delicate shade of maize, matching their gowns.

This summery suggestion has been repeated in the costumes at some recent weddings in fashionable society this side of the water, the mitts being usually of elbow length and always matching the costume. They are shown in many lovely shades, in stripes and other openwork patterns; in plain colors of glove silk, black or white, and some are stitched with bright contrasts. One of the choicest styles is a glove of lace silk of one color trimmed at the wrist with a wee plaiting of ribbon, piped with scarlet, blue, black or green. The black and white combinations are especially smart.

Red Much in Favor

Everywhere one sees much red used, not only for hats but for entire frocks. Sports frocks of red crepe de chine or flat crepe are most attractive and, as a rule, have a scarf of the same material. Some of the newer scarfs are made of crepe in a solid color with a wide border of a contrasting shade at each end. With a frock of white crepe de chine there was a scarf of white with an extremely wide band of red.

This further stated, "The solemn responsibility for the answer rests upon American Christians as upon no body in the whole world."

An interesting story, "The Basket that opened a Door," was told by Mrs. Dan Smith, and revealed a group of Congregational women nearly one hundred years ago, meeting regularly to pray that Japan might be opened to the preaching of the gospel.

The program closed with a short poem, "The Call" given by Mrs. John Woodhead. During the social hour which followed, refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by the Misses Esther and Joy Crandall. Six visitors were present.

Attention was called to the deep loss sustained by the missionary society with the passing of Mrs. A. E. Losey, and that of Miss Robinson leaving town, to which reference was made at a previous meeting. Mrs. Losey was known to be deeply interested in missions, being always present at the meetings, willing to do and give of her service and means open her home and in every way doing all in her power to help in carrying on the work, proving not only a valuable help but an inspiration. It can truly be said of her, "She hath done what she could."

Manager of United Press Bureau Visits Bemidji

D. D. Meredith, manager of the St. Paul office of the United Press associations, spent a few hours in Bemidji today on an auto tour of Northern Minnesota, his first visit to this section of the state. Mr. and Mrs. Meredith are enjoying their annual vacation and report a very enjoyable trip, which included points in Iowa before coming to this section of Minnesota. They planned to go to Lake Winnepigoshish this afternoon then to the Iron Range, the Superior National Forest, the North Shore region and Duluth.—Bemidji Daily Pioneer.

TOURIST CAMP IS POPULAR

No Falling Off in Attendance Since
Free System Was Succeeded by
Small Charge

WINNIPEG MAN'S TRIBUTE

Thanks For Courtesies Extended and
Will Tell All His Friends of
Accommodations

The Brainerd tourist camp is proving to be just as popular among summer visitors this year, under the system of charging for accommodations, as it was last season when the camp facilities were free.

The following letter, written to the Brainerd park board by C. E. Usher, of Winnipeg, Manitoba, is typical of others that have been received and voices the sentiment of the majority of tourists who have stopped at the local camp:

"Dear Sir: On behalf of my family and myself, I wish to thank you for the welcome extended to us at your tourist camp. I may say that yours is one of the most convenient camps I have seen, and I shall consider it a pleasure to tell my friends about the Brainerd camp."

A. G. Keen, who has been caretaker at the camp since it was started a year ago last spring, has resigned, and Lloyd Lewis, son of W. E. Lewis, is now in charge. Lloyd is a student at the state university, and is earning money to help defray the expenses of his education. Mr. Keen has not been well for some time, and found that the long hours and the work were too hard for a man of his years.

While the Brainerd tourist camp is conceded to be one of the finest and best equipped in the Northwest, and is one of the very few that has all modern conveniences, still the park board is planning more improvements to be installed this fall and winter, to be ready for the opening of the 1925 tourist season.

One of the improvements that the board has in mind, but which has not as yet been definitely planned, is a community center for the camp, where the visitors can congregate during the day or evening, write letters, read, have music, and hold their social functions. It would be a large building with a substantial roof and floor, but open on the sides. Such a building has proven very successful in many camps.

Drills Will Operate

A report is current here that the Longyear company will begin drilling operations on the Preston property about one and a half miles north-east of this village. According to the report the drills, three in number, will begin operation the first of September. Should the findings prove satisfactory, the Preston mine will be opened up, possibly by the first of the year.—Trommald Times.

"Caesar" Once Family Name

The name "Caesar" was the family name of the first five Roman emperors, originating in Sextus Julius Caesar, who was a praetor, 205 B. C. The family became extinct with Nero in 68 A. D., and the title "Caesar" became simply a title of dignity. Both Augustus Caesar, born September, 63 B. C., who died in August of the year 14 A. D., and Tiberius ruled during the life of Christ. Augustus was reigning at the time of the birth of Christ.

Acoustic Experiment

A very pretty experiment in acoustics can be achieved by the use of a child's tin horn. Tie a sheet of thin paper firmly over the big end, hold the horn so that the paper is level, scatter over it a little fine sand or lycopodium powder, then sing a note into the horn. You will find that the powder has formed itself into an intricate geometrical figure. It was in this way that the first voice pictures were obtained.

To Dress and Look Cool on Sultry Summer Days

Life nowadays is altogether too much fussed-up. We all admit it. But you have no idea how, taking your courage in hand, you can pull off the silly old outer coverings, and get at something tolerably simple. Just for one example, observes a writer in the Woman's Home Companion: If your hair is hot and heavy on your head and hard to keep in order, cut some of it out. Don't be afraid. Maybe your husband does admire it. He doesn't have to take care of it.

The first thing to do if you have long heavy hair is to shorten it. What's the use of carrying around a lot of old hair, anyway? It just wads up in a bunch on your head and acts like a warming pan. But if your hair grows thickly on your head, shortening doesn't cool you off very much. My suggestion then is that you have some one thin it out for you carefully, much as you'd thin out the carrot row in the early summer. Cut small pieces out close to the scalp in several places, being careful to take it from underneath where the cut-out regions will be well concealed by your coiffure. Don't cut the hair that grows low on the neck.

Delightfully refreshing for hot weather, too, are the scented hair lotions which have all the cooling virtues of toilet water but are especially adapted for the hair. A few drops on your scalp around the edges of the hair seem to take away that hot, damp feeling.

Baths are one thing that you can't very well cut down in hot weather. But any day, you know, you can save enough puttering or worry time for one good bath. And what a boon a bathtub is in hot weather—a bathtub filled without skipping, and smelling like a lemon meringue all on account of a handful of vervene bath salts. Failing a tub, however, one can still be cool. A hand basin of water, an ordinary wash cloth, and a spoonful of toilet water makes a sponge bath that takes off several degrees of heat. And just an ordinary air bath, suns clothes, is a wonderful freshener. It's a very good thing, especially in summer, to remove your clothes for a little while each day, and let your pores get a good, deep breath of air.

Lace Mitts Take Place in Fashions of Summer

Like a remnant of finery from the fashions of olden times are the pretty lace mitts that have suddenly become the last word in summer styles. Of course, old ladies have always worn mitts, and the more conservative shops have continued to humor their fancy and retain their patronage. But the revival of mitts had a definite starting point in an English wedding at which the bride wore long mitts of exquisite white lace and the bridesmaids shorter mitts of silk in an open lace pattern, of a delicate shade of maize, matching their gowns.

This summery suggestion has been repeated in the costumes at some recent weddings in fashionable society this side of the water, the mitts being usually of elbow length and always matching the costume. They are shown in many lovely shades, in stripes and other openwork patterns; in plain colors of glove silk, black or white, and some are stitched with bright contrasts. One of the choicest styles is a glove of lacy silk of one color trimmed at the wrist with a wee plaiting of ribbon, piped with scarlet, blue, black or green. The black and white combinations are especially smart.

Red Much in Favor

Everywhere one sees much red used, not only for hats but for entire frocks. Sports frocks of red crepe de chine or flat crepe are most attractive and, as a rule, have a scarf of the same material. Some of the newer scarfs are made of crepe in a solid color with a wide border of a contrasting shade at each end. With a frock of white crepe de chine there was a scarf of white with an extremely wide band of red.

ACTUAL FACTS REGARDING VACCINATION

TABLES of statistics cited by the United States Public Health Service evidence the value of vaccination in preventing or at least moderating attacks of smallpox. One vaccination, however, is not sufficient to protect one throughout life.

Many townships in Morrison county are having their people vaccinated, in one case over a thousand receiving treatment.

Through the courtesy of the State Health Officer of the State of Minnesota, Surgeon General Cumming of the Public Health Service is able to furnish the following information with regard to an outbreak of malignant smallpox beginning in Minnesota in the early part of this year.

The disease was introduced at Duluth in January 1924. The first case was that of a male nurse, 54 years of age who had never been successfully vaccinated and who died within a few days. Subsequently there developed other cases making a total of 182 for this epidemic. It is interesting to note that 139 of the persons who had smallpox had never been successfully vaccinated in their lives. Of these 139 persons, who had never been successfully vaccinated, 34 died. Of the remaining 43 persons who had the disease, 39 had not been successfully vaccinated within seven years and of these 39, six died. This leaves 4 cases still to be accounted for. Of these, 2 had been vaccinated in less than seven years, but did not die from the disease. Two others had had smallpox when they were children and they recovered. Of those persons who died, although they had been once successfully vaccinated, we have the following histories: One woman, age 59 was vaccinated in childhood; one aged 49 was vaccinated when 8 years old. One woman 24 years of age, who was not in very good physical condition at the time she contracted the disease had been vaccinated in childhood. One man 37 years of age had been vaccinated when he was three and a half years old. One man 55 years of age had been vaccinated when he was six months old. One man who was 55 years of age had been vaccinated when he was one year old.

From these data, which have been carefully collected, it will be seen that smallpox still runs true to form in that it attacks persons who are either not protected by vaccination at all or who have lost the protection which they once had.

Smallpox has never occurred in any appreciable extent in persons who have been recently, successfully vaccinated.

The fact should be emphasized that one vaccination is not sufficient to protect an individual throughout life. The child should be successfully vaccinated before he enters school; he should be successfully vaccinated again between the ages of 12 and 20 and vaccination should again be repeated between forty and fifty.

Vaccination should be performed at any time when one is exposed to smallpox provided there has not been a successful vaccination within 12 months.

As at present performed, vaccination causes very little inconvenience especially when compared to an attack of smallpox. The first successful vaccination usually causes more inconvenience than subsequent ones.

The production of vaccine is carefully supervised and physicians no longer use the cross scarification method in performing this operation.

One of the best methods of vaccinating is to make a short incision or scratch, a single line, just penetrating the upper layers of skin, stopping just short of drawing blood. Of course, the arm must be cleansed, the instrument sterile, and fresh vaccine should be used. If more than one line is made, care must be exercised to have them far enough apart so that they will not "run together." These lines should not be closer together than two inches.

Another method is the use of a little instrument which makes a very small abrasion on the skin, scarcely more than 1-16 inch in diameter. If two such abrasions are made, these should be at least two inches apart.

There is no country in the world where vaccination and re-vaccination have been sufficiently carried out to eradicate smallpox completely, but wherever vaccination has been practiced, smallpox has diminished in proportion.

THE POTENT WORKERS

NEXT week Brainerd will again have in its midst about sixty men and women who are more potent in making good citizenship than any other equal number of folks; and yet their coming is silent, and their value to our community is not properly recognized.

We require that these workers have at least a high school and normal schooling and for some branches of the work a college education. We also require that they be of high moral character.

These workers are paid a fair salary; commerce pays more for those who have equal attainments. Some may be opportunists merely filling in time, but the majority love their work for what it is, and believe it to be the best way they can serve society.

Many of these public school teachers will take the keenest personal interest in their pupils, and hundreds of boys and girls, in later life, will look back with gratitude to their school days and to the teacher who did her utmost to inspire them to loftier ideals. This is not in the curriculum, but it is the real practical lesson taught. The teacher may not teach religion, but she may give a living example of true religion of the most practical sort.

Yet we do not properly recognize these workers. They would do even better work with less fatigue if a greater appreciation was shown. If the teacher be timid, she is likely to spend a lonely time outside of the schoolroom. The Rotary club recognizes the value of the teacher and her needs and they give the best party of their year to these workers. This is not enough. They are worthy of and should have greater appreciation shown, particularly by parents of those who attend the schools.

Welcome the teachers; let us make it a pleasant year for them.

Traces Weaving Art to Neolithic Woman

Neolithic woman's crude efforts to construct a roof for her primitive hut gave rise to the manufacture of silk stockings for modern girls. Prof. Harris Hawthorne Wilder of the department of zoology at Smith college, Northampton, Mass., has traced the history of weaving back to the Stone age shelter and even suggests that the apes started the practice which is responsible for Twentieth-century dress goods.

"The chimpanzees and orang-outangs of the present day," he says, "construct for themselves serviceable nests and twine above them the smaller branches, interlacing as well as their thick fingers and inferior brains will permit. But the primitive woman was far above this, and, in her twig-twining there soon grew beneath her supple fingers a definite system, by which, perhaps, one set of twigs interlocked in a fairly regular fashion with a set in the opposite direction. Next she made baskets, constructed like the hut, but made small and fastened to her back, they greatly facilitated her work of burden bearing.

"She then developed the new-found art still further and applied it to the construction of large mats, with which to cover the ground of the hut. In searching the forest for plant stems she discovered the characteristics of the fibers of flax. In some way, too, she noticed the peculiar virtue of sheep's wool, which was at first left upon the hide and employed like other furs. Twisting small tufts of wool between the thumb and finger draws them out readily into threads and this perfectly natural motion was probably often indulged in in idle moments before the idea was seized upon and definitely applied. A fairly good yarn can be made by the fingers alone, but the twisting can be more rapidly and easily accomplished by the use of something that can be made to rotate after the principle of a top. Thus came the spindle and spindle whorl.

"The simple stitches learned in basket making were undoubtedly used first in weaving with the more pliable materials. But soon the greater possibilities were taken advantage of and the fabrics and colored patterns that were achieved in the valleys of the Danube and Rhine before the horse was tamed or the use of metals learned, rivaled in beauty the costumes of modern peasantry in countries where primitive methods are still used.

"The native inhabitants of the two Americas often use in their weaving exactly the same process that the women of the Neolithic age employed. Studies of the American Indians are one of the profitable ways of tracing the development of textile industries."

Glass Hospital Walls

Glass walls in hospitals are the latest outlet for potentially large quantities of that product. Glass has been used for walls and partitions in the children's wards of a new $4,000,000 hospital, Beth Israel, New York, so that patients with contagious or infectious diseases may be seen by their parents and relatives without danger of spreading the infection.

It is often the case that education authorities will realize and advocate new economic opportunities some time in advance of their industrial application. Science and medicine have long since put the stamp of their approval on glass for its strength, safety and sanitation and visibility. Packers and bottlers are now beginning to realize to a greater degree how existent these qualities are in the glass container.

Charon the Ferryman

In classic mythology Charon was the son of Erebus and Nox. It was his duty to convey the shades of the buried dead across the rivers of the lower world. For this service he exacted an obolus; and, accordingly, a coin of this value was always placed in the dead person's mouth. To neglect this rite was to doom the unhappy shade to wander restlessly along the shores of Acheron, since Charon refused to ferry any one across who did not pay the fee. Charon is generally represented as an old man, with unkempt beard and filthy clothes.

All Explained

The mistress was attracted to the kitchen by a terrible clatter and evident sounds of scuffling. When she arrived the room was deserted except for the cook.

"My, Nora, what was all that noise I heard out here?" anxiously questioned the lady.

"You see, mum, the policeman just tried to kiss me."

"Oh, and you were compelled to use force to prevent him?"

"Well, not exactly, mum, but you see, the ice man! . . ."

Economic Philosophy

Wherever Dickens is read this advice by Mr. Micawber stands out as the acme of economic common sense:

"Annual income twenty pounds, annual expenditure nineteen, nineteen, six; result happiness. Annual income twenty pounds, annual expenditure twenty pounds, ought and six; result misery."

Likewise Josh Billings gives expression to not quite so nearly universal a truth when he tells us:

"Debt is a trap, which a man sets and baits himself, and then deliberately gets into—and catches a kursed phool."

Artemus Ward made his reputation as an economist and a humorist on his statement:

"I'm bound to live within my means and I have to borrow money to do it."—C. W. C. in McNaught's Monthly.

Do Ducks Swim With Wings?

Do ducks use their wings while swimming under water? The question is discussed frequently among sportsmen and nature students, and opinions sometimes differ. Testimony of reliable authorities supports the belief that various species of ducks and grebes, loons and other diving birds do not use their wings when swimming beneath the surface for food or in trying to escape capture, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. A ruddy duck was observed on Lake Michigan not long ago feeding in 15 or 20 feet of clear water. As it got well started on its downward plunge, the wings, about two-thirds extended, were used in quick, short strokes, at the rate of about one a second, to assist in propelling it and in rising to the top as well.

Catherine Rush

Medical annals have seldom recorded so rare a case of longevity as that of Catherine Rush, who died in Philadelphia on May 1, 1817, at the age of one hundred and eleven years and eleven months. So far as is known Catherine Rush had lived on the outskirts of Philadelphia all her life, and no one was particularly interested in her until she reached the age of one hundred, having been a very frail girl. When she passed the one-hundred year mark physicians began to watch her. They kept up their watching for nearly twelve years. It was Catherine Rush's greatest desire, when she felt the end coming, to round out one hundred and twelve years. She failed of it by one month.—Chicago Journal.

Traced to Archimedes

The word "Eureka" is said to have been uttered by Archimedes (287-212 B. C.), the Greek philosopher, when the principle of specific gravity first dawned upon him. It is said that the thought first came to him while in the bath, and that he fled half-clad through the streets of Syracuse to his home, shouting, "I have found it! I have found it!" The problem that had been given him to solve was to determine whether a golden crown made for Hiero, king of Syracuse, had been alloyed with silver. This the king had suspected, and the philosopher afterwards proved it to be true.

That's Where They Live

A man went into a telephone booth and started what proved to be a protracted conversation. He had left the door ajar. A line composed of men waiting their turn formed outside. Now and then they could hear the chirp in the booth murmur, "Yes, my angel."

A drummer joined the line just in time to hear an emphatic, "Yes, my angel."

"Hello," said the drummer, "central's given somebody heaven."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Parasols That Tone In

Parasols that will tone in with many different color schemes are often hard to find but are well worth the search. Unusually attractive are those of printed silk that have small designs and soft colors that blend into each other so that a rather indefinite effect is produced.

Cloth of Gold

For evening gowns for the coming winter Paris is turning out some very gorgeous gowns of cloth of gold or silver, absolutely untrimmied and practically undraped.

The Time for Silence

THE MOST STUPENDOUS ENTERTAINMENT

PROGRAM ever staged by any Fair or Exposition in the world will be presented to 500,000 visitors by the Minnesota State Fair, Aug. 30 to Sept. 6. Never in the history of fairs have so many mammoth amusement features been assembled for exhibition at one time. The very cream of all the super-thrills of the year has been engaged by the "World's Greatest State Fair." The combined circuses of the world could not equal the afternoon and evening performances of the Minnesota State Fair in size or scale.

Three days of thrilling dirt track auto races; four days of harness and running races; a score of open-air circus acts; a dozen bands and orchestras; Morris and Castle's mammoth 38-car Shows; the spectacular fireworks spectacle "Tokyo"; and hosts of other features complete the show. The leading attractions:

Seventeen Spectacular Circus Acts, Selected From World's Newest and Most Novel Offerings.

Automobile Races Featuring World's Greatest Dirt Track Pilots, including Sig Haugdahl and His Famous "Miller Special" Racing Car, the Fastest Car Ever Built. Three Days, Aug. 30, Sept. 3 and 6.

Many townships in Morrison county are having their people vaccinated, in one case over a thousand receiving treatment.

Through the courtesy of the State Health Officer of the State of Minnesota, Surgeon General Cumming of the Public Health Service is able to furnish the following information with regard to an outbreak of malignant smallpox beginning in Minnesota in the early part of this year.

The disease was introduced at Duluth in January 1924. The first case was that of a male nurse, 54 years of age who had never been successfully vaccinated and who died within a few days. Subsequently there developed other cases making a total of 182 for this epidemic. It is interesting to note that 139 of the persons who had smallpox had never been successfully vaccinated in their lives. Of these 139 persons, who had never been successfully vaccinated, 34 died. Of the remaining 43 persons who had the disease, 39 had not been successfully vaccinated within seven years and of these 39, six died. This leaves 4 cases still to be accounted for. Of these, 2 had been vaccinated in less than seven years, but did not die from the disease. Two others had had smallpox when they were children and they recovered. Of those persons who died, although they had been once successfully vaccinated, we have the following histories: One woman, age 59 was vaccinated in childhood; one aged 49 was vaccinated when 8 years old. One woman 24 years of age, who was not in very good physical condition at the time she contracted the disease had been vaccinated in childhood. One man 37 years of age had been vaccinated when he was three and a half years old. One man 55 years of age had been vaccinated when he was six months old. One man who was 55 years of age had been vaccinated when he was one year old.

From these data, which have been carefully collected, it will be seen that smallpox still runs true to form in that it attacks persons who are either not protected by vaccination at all or who have lost the protection which they once had.

Smallpox has never occurred in any appreciable extent in persons who have been recently, successfully vaccinated.

The fact should be emphasized that one vaccination is not sufficient to protect an individual throughout life. The child should be successfully vaccinated before he enters school; he should be successfully vaccinated again between the ages of 12 and 20 and vaccination should again be repeated between forty and fifty.

Vaccination should be performed at any time when one is exposed to smallpox provided there has not been a successful vaccination within 12 months.

As at present performed, vaccination causes very little inconvenience especially when compared to an attack of smallpox. The first successful vaccination usually causes more inconvenience than subsequent ones.

The production of vaccine is carefully supervised and physicians no longer use the cross scarification method in performing this operation.

One of the best methods of vaccinating is to make a short incision or scratch, a single line, just penetrating the upper layers of skin, stopping just short of drawing blood. Of course, the arm must be cleansed, the instrument sterile, and fresh vaccine should be used. If more than one line is made, care must be exercised to have them far enough apart so that they will not "run together." These lines should not be closer together than two inches.

Another method is the use of a little instrument which makes a very small abrasion on the skin, scarcely more than 1-16 inch in diameter. If two such abrasions are made, these should be at least two inches apart.

There is no country in the world where vaccination and re-vaccination have been sufficiently carried out to eradicate smallpox completely, but wherever vaccination has been practiced, smallpox has diminished in proportion.

THE POTENT WORKERS

NEXT week Brainerd will again have in its midst about sixty men and women who are more potent in making good citizenship than any other equal number of folks; and yet their coming is silent, and their value to our community is not properly recognized.

We require that these workers have at least a high school and normal schooling and for some branches of the work a college education. We also require that they be of high moral character.

These workers are paid a fair salary; commerce pays more for those who have equal attainments. Some may be opportunists merely filling in time, but the majority love their work for what it is, and believe it to be the best way they can serve society.

Many of these public school teachers will take the keenest personal interest in their pupils, and hundreds of boys and girls, in later life, will look back with gratitude to their school days and to the teacher who did her utmost to inspire them to loftier ideals. This is not in the curriculum, but it is the real practical lesson taught. The teacher may not teach religion, but she may give a living example of true religion of the most practical sort.

Yet we do not properly recognize these workers. They would do even better work with less fatigue if a greater appreciation was shown. If the teacher be timid, she is likely to spend a lonely time outside of the schoolroom. The Rotary club recognizes the value of the teacher and her needs and they give the best party of their year to these workers. This is not enough. They are worthy of and should have greater appreciation shown, particularly by parents of those who attend the schools.

Welcome the teachers; let us make it a pleasant year for them.

Traces Weaving Art to Neolithic Woman

Neolithic woman's crude efforts to construct a roof for her primitive hut gave rise to the manufacture of silk stockings for modern girls. Prof. Harris Hawthorne Wilder of the department of zoology at Smith college, Northampton, Mass., has traced the history of weaving back to the Stone age shelter and even suggests that the apes started the practice which is responsible for Twentieth-century dress goods.

"The chimpanzees and orang-outangs of the present day," he says, "construct for themselves serviceable nests and twine above them the smaller branches, interlacing as well as their thick fingers and inferior brains will permit. But the primitive woman was far above this, and, in her twig-twining there soon grew beneath her supple fingers a definite system, by which, perhaps, one set of twigs interlocked in a fairly regular fashion with a set in the opposite direction. Next she made baskets, constructed like the hut, but made small and fastened to her back, they greatly facilitated her work of burden bearing.

"She then developed the new-found art still further and applied it to the construction of large mats, with which to cover the ground of the hut. In searching the forest for plant stems she discovered the characteristics of the fibers of flax. In some way, too, she noticed the peculiar virtue of sheep's wool, which was at first left upon the hide and employed like other furs. Twisting small tufts of wool between the thumb and finger draws them out readily into threads and this perfectly natural motion was probably often indulged in in idle moments before the idea was seized upon and definitely applied. A fairly good yarn can be made by the fingers alone, but the twisting can be more rapidly and easily accomplished by the use of something that can be made to rotate after the principle of a top. Thus came the spindle and spindle whorl.

"The simple stitches learned in basket making were undoubtedly used first in weaving with the more pliable materials. But soon the greater possibilities were taken advantage of and the fabrics and colored patterns that were achieved in the valleys of the Danube and Rhine before the horse was tamed or the use of metals learned, rivaled in beauty the costumes of modern peasantry in countries where primitive methods are still used.

"The native inhabitants of the two Americas often use in their weaving exactly the same process that the women of the Neolithic age employed. Studies of the American Indians are one of the profitable ways of tracing the development of textile industries."

Glass Hospital Walls

Glass walls in hospitals are the latest outlet for potentially large quantities of that product. Glass has been used for walls and partitions in the children's wards of a new $1,000,000 hospital, Beth Israel, New York, so that patients with contagious or infectious diseases may be seen by their parents and relatives without danger of spreading the infection.

It is often the case that education authorities will realize and advocate new economic opportunities some time in advance of their industrial application. Science and medicine have long since put the stamp of their approval on glass for its strength, safety and sanitation and visibility. Packers and bottlers are now beginning to realize to a greater degree how existent these qualities are in the glass container.

Charon the Ferryman

In classic mythology Charon was the son of Erebus and Nox. It was his duty to convey the shades of the buried dead across the rivers of the lower world. For this service he exacted an obolus; and, accordingly, a coin of this value was always placed in the dead person's mouth. To neglect this rite was to doom the unhappy shade to wander restlessly along the shores of Acheron, since Charon refused to ferry any one across who did not pay the fee. Charon is generally represented as an old man, with unkempt beard and filthy clothes.

The mistress was attracted to the kitchen by a terrible clatter and evident sounds of scuffling. When she arrived the room was deserted except for the cook.

"My, Nora, what was all that noise I heard out here?" anxiously questioned the lady.

"You see, mum, the policeman just tried to kiss me."

"Oh, and you were compelled to use force to prevent him?"

"Well, not exactly, mum, but you see, the iced man! . . ."

Economic Philosophy

Wherever Dickens is read this advice by Mr. Micawber stands out as the acme of economic common sense:

"Annual income twenty pounds, annual expenditure nineteen, nineteen, six; result happiness. Annual income twenty pounds, annual expenditure twenty pounds, eight and six; result misery."

Likewise Josh Billings gives expression to not quite so nearly universal a truth when he tells us:

"Debt is a trap, which a man sets and baits himself, and then deliberately gets into—and catches a kursed phool."

Artemus Ward made his reputation as an economist and a humorist on his statement:

"I'm bound to live within my means and I have to borrow money to do it."—C. W. C., in McNaught's Monthly.

Do Ducks Swim With Wings?

Do ducks use their wings while swimming under water? The question is discussed frequently among sportsmen and nature students, and opinions sometimes differ. Testimony of reliable authorities supports the belief that various species of ducks and grebes, loons and other diving birds do not use their wings when swimming beneath the surface for food or in trying to escape capture, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. A ruddy duck was observed on Lake Michigan not long ago feeding in 15 or 20 feet of clear water. As it got well started on its downward plunge, the wings, about two-thirds extended, were used in quick, short strokes, at the rate of about one a second, to assist in propelling it and in rising to the top as well.

Catherine Rush

Medical annals have seldom recorded so rare a case of longevity as that of Catherine Rush, who died in Philadelphia on May 1, 1877, at the age of one hundred and eleven years and eleven months. So far as is known Catherine Rush had lived on the outskirts of Philadelphia all her life, and no one was particularly interested in her until she reached the age of one hundred, having been a very frail girl. When she passed the one-hundred year mark physicians began to watch her. They kept up their watching for nearly twelve years. It was Catherine Rush's greatest desire, when she felt the end coming, to round out one hundred and twelve years. She failed of it by one month.—Chicago Journal.

Traced to Archimedes

The word "Eureka" is said to have been uttered by Archimedes (287-212 B. C.), the Greek philosopher, when the principle of specific gravity first dawned upon him. It is said that the thought first came to him while in the bath, and that he fled half-clad through the streets of Syracuse to his home, shouting, "I have found it! I have found it!" The problem that had been given him to solve was to determine whether a golden crown made for Hiero, king of Syracuse, had been alloyed with silver. This the king had suspected, and the philosopher afterwards proved it to be true.

That's Where They Live

A man went into a telephone booth and started what proved to be a protracted conversation. He had left the door ajar. A line composed of men waiting their turn formed outside. Now and then they could hear the chap in the booth murmur, "Yes, my angel."

A drummer joined the line just in time to hear an emphatic, "Yes, my angel."

"Hello," said the drummer, "central's given somebody heaven."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Northwest Dairy Exposition

Aug. 30 to Sept. 6

THE MOST STUPENDOUS ENTERTAINMENT PROGRAM ever staged by any Fair or Exposition in the world will be presented to 500,000 visitors by the Minnesota State Fair, Aug. 30 to Sept. 6. Never in the history of fairs have so many mammoth amusement features been assembled for exhibition at one time. The very cream of all the super-thrills of the year has been engaged by the "World's Greatest State Fair." The combined circuses of the world could not equal the afternoon and evening performances of the Minnesota State Fair in size or scale.

Three days of thrilling dirt track auto races; four days of harness and running races; a score of open-air circus acts; a dozen bands and orchestras; Morris and Castle's mammoth 38-car Shows; the spectacular fireworks spectacle "Tokyo"; and hosts of other features complete the show. The leading attractions:

Seventeen Spectacular Circus Acts, Selected From World's Newest and Most Novel Offerings.

Automobile Races Featuring World's Greatest Dirt Track Pilots, including Sig Haugdahl and His Famous "Miller Special" Racing Car, the Fastest Car Ever Built. Three Days, Aug. 30, Sept. 3 and 6.

$100,000 GIVEN TO CHINA FLOOD RELIEF WORK

INTERNATIONAL COMMITTEE FUND SWELLED BY BIG DONA-TION TRANSMITTED BY CABLE

TEN MILLION PERSONS AFFECT-ED AND LARGE FARMING AREA
DEVASTATED BY DELUGE

(From Red Cross Courier)

The American Red Cross has gone to the relief of the victims of the almost unprecedented floods sweeping several provinces of China by cabling a donation of $100,000 from national Disaster Relief funds. This action was taken by Chairman John Barton Payne immediately upon receipt of a report transmitted through the State Department at the request of the Red Cross by Jacob Gould Schurman, American Minister at Peking.

The money will be disbursed by the China International Famine Relief Commission.

Ten Millions Affected

Minister Schurman's cable stated that the Commission estimates that ten million persons are already affected by the floods, and that based on its experience during the 1920-1921 famine, $1 per person or ten million dollars will be needed for relief operations.

Emergency relief measures now under way are being carried on by various Chinese philanthropic organizations, and the Famine Relief Commission is laying plans to meet the distress which is sure to follow destruction of the crops, the cable continued.

Situation Most Serious

Estimated funds which may be made available through the imposition of customs and transportation surtaxes, flood relief campaigns, etc., would total seven and a half million dollars, leaving a sum of two and a half million dollars otherwise to be raised in the situation is to be fully met.

"The present situation is very serious," Minister Schurman stated. "The spring crops in North China are short due to drought, and the fall crops are destroyed over a wide area due to rains. The water will remain over large areas for some months, so that winter wheat cannot be planted."

No request has been received for the dispatch of Red Cross relief workers from this country, and accordingly none will be sent.

BURGLARS CAUGHT WITH LOOT BEFORE THEFT DISCOVERED

Minneapolis, Aug. 26.—Minneapolis police caught two burglars with an autoloading of loot from a decorating store before the burglary had been discovered.

A few minutes after the two men had been put into their cells in the Minneapolis city jail a call came from A. A. Aamodt, decorator, who reported his store had been robbed.

The loot found by police was later identified by Aamodt as that taken from his store. The men arrested gave their names as William Allen and Edward Haller.

Other burglars evidently spent all day yesterday cutting their way through the wall of a vacant store into the Ideal Fur Co. Furs valued at $1,000 were taken.

Greatness Is Not to Be Gauged by Statute

Lombroso in his "Men of Genius" says that greatness and stature are rarely found together. In consulting biographies of a number of great men in American history, however, it has been found that this statement does not always apply. There have been on the whole more prominent men above middle height than below, says the Denver News. Among the short men may be numbered John Quincy Adams, Admiral Farragut, Paul Jones, Gen. Phil Sheridan, Stephen A. Douglas, William H. Seward and Martin Van Buren. On the other hand we find that Charles Sumner was 6 feet 4 inches; Thomas Jefferson, 6 feet 2½ inches; Charley Godfrey Leland, 6 feet 2½ inches; Andrew Jackson, 6 feet 1 inch; Samuel Adams, Salmon P. Chase and Jonathan Edwards described as "over 6 feet"; James Monroe, 6 feet or more; Bayard Taylor, 6 feet at the age of seventeen; George Washington, 6 feet. Henry Ward Beecher, Rufus Choate, Benjamin Franklin were slightly under 6 feet. Daniel Webster and Patrick Henry were about 5 feet 10.

Vacationist Had Real Problem on His Hands

A revival of this old yarn, once a favorite of George Roby's, is not amiss: It was all about a man who arrived at a seaside resort and went to a hotel. Shortly after a friend called and was shown up to his room. He found him sitting in a chair surveying with a gloomy countenance a trunk which stood against the wall.

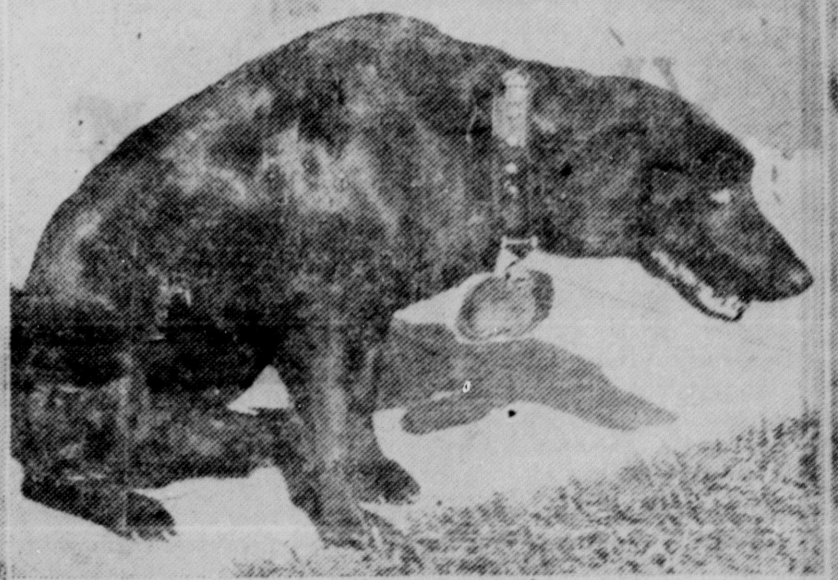

"What's the matter?" asked the caller.

"I want to get a suit of clothes out of that trunk," was the answer.

"Well, what's the difficulty—lost the key?"

"No, I have the key all right," he said, heaving a sigh. "I'll tell you how it is. My wife packed that trunk. She expected to come with me, but was prevented. To my certain knowledge she put in enough to fill three trunks the way a man would pack them. If I open it, the things will boil up all over the room. I could never get them back. Now I'm wondering whether it would be cheaper to go and buy a new suit of clothes or two more trunks."—San Francisco Argonaut.

"Capital punishment checks murder," said Crowe. "Court records of Cook county, contrary to the statement of Darrow, show that it does check murder." Crowe called attention to the fact that 15 death sentences imposed in cases over 1921 caused a drop of 50 per cent in murder over 1920 in the county.

Crowe said he had no more love for English law than Darrow, who attacked the extreme penalties under British law. Crowe pointed out, however, that he had profound respect for the British courts, "because they enforce the laws and mete out justice swiftly and surely."

The vigorous state's attorney, who was perspiring freely, glanced at the clock and on the personal request of Justice Caverly ordered a recess for luncheon.

CHARGES CRIMINAL ASSAULT WAS MADE

Criminal Courtroom, Chicago, Aug. 26.—An open charge of criminal assault on Robert Franks, who was kidnaped and murdered by Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, was made in open court by State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe in a terrific denunciation of the youthful slayers.

Branding them as perverts and entitled to as much mercy as a mad dog, Crowe painted a grim picture of their "own natural desires" and with the swiftness of a thunderbolt launched into the heretofore whispered story of what they had done to Bobby Franks.

"What did these boys first plan?" shouted Crowe. "They planned to kidnap a little girl, assault her, kill her, and then on top of that attempt to collect ransom."

"But they changed their plan and decided their victim should be a little boy, so that Leopold and Loeb could satisfy their unnatural lust."

"What does the testimony in this case show? It shows—and I want your honor to recall that part of the testimony which was kept out of open court, that the body of poor little Franks showed evidence that he had been the victim of foul mistreatment, and showed plainly that he had been abused.

"How do you undress a little child? You take off his little tie and little coat. You take off the little shirt. You start at the top."

"Where did these boys start? They started where they should not have started."

And Crowe sunk his fist again and again on the bench as he stressed his point that the boys should pay the penalty for their crime.

It was an appeal case in a Colorado court, and on one side was a testy lawyer and on the other a number of inexperienced attorneys. The arguments on both sides had been heard and the case closed for judgment.

Suddenly one of the inexperienced lawyers got up and addressed the court once more. The testy lawyer stood it for a moment, but losing patience, he also rose and addressed the court in this wise:

"Your honor, I would suggest, with

The court, who at this time was writing, put his head out in a beligerent way and said, "Mr. Jones, it is a great piece of impertinence on your part to assume that the court is listening to him."—Harper's.

Here's Pep, Governor Pinchot's Dog, Sentenced to Life Term in Penitentiary for Killing Kitten

When Pep killed a little kitten at the home of Governor Gifford Pinchot, in Pike County, Pa., the governor treated him just as he would any other criminal. After thorough investigation Pep, nine months old, was found guilty of deliberation his master sentenced him to life imprisonment in Pennsylvania's Eastern Penitentiary. Like any other prisoner, he was given his number. Pep is shown here wearing his numbered tag. It's C-2559.

so sacrilegious as to declare utterly without supporting testimony that Nathan Leopold considered himself the Christ child. What could be more blasphemous? Nathan Leopold, since he was 11 years old, has raised his fiendish voice and said 'There is no God.'

"What could be more sacrilegious and more blasphemous?"

"Capital punishment checks murder," said Crowe. "Court records of Cook county, contrary to the statement of Darrow, show that it does check murder." Crowe called attention to the fact that 15 death sentences imposed in cases over 1921 caused a drop of 50 per cent in murder over 1920 in the county.

Crowe said he had no more love for English law than Darrow, who attacked the extreme penalties under British law. Crowe pointed out, however, that he had profound respect for the British courts, "because they enforce the laws and mete out justice swiftly and surely."

The vigorous state's attorney, who was perspiring freely, glanced at the clock and on the personal request of Justice Caverly ordered a recess for luncheon.

CHARGES CRIMINAL ASSAULT WAS MADE

Criminal Courtroom, Chicago, Aug. 26.—An open charge of criminal assault on Robert Franks, who was kidnaped and murdered by Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, was made in open court by State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe in a terrific denunciation of the youthful slayers.

Branding them as perverts and entitled to as much mercy as a mad dog, Crowe painted a grim picture of their "own natural desires" and with the swiftness of a thunderbolt launched into the heretofore whispered story of what they had done to Bobby Franks.

"What did these boys first plan?" shouted Crowe. "They planned to kidnap a little girl, assault her, kill her, and then on top of that attempt to collect ransom."

"But they changed their plan and decided their victim should be a little boy, so that Leopold and Loeb could satisfy their unnatural lust."

"What does the testimony in this case show? It shows—and I want your honor to recall that part of the testimony which was kept out of open court, that the body of poor little Franks showed evidence that he had been the victim of foul mistreatment, and showed plainly that he had been abused.

"How do you undress a little child? You take off his little tie and little coat. You take off the little shirt. You start at the top."

"Where did these boys start? They started where they should not have started."

And Crowe sunk his fist again and again on the bench as he stressed his point that the boys should pay the penalty for their crime.

The Real Impertinence

It was an appeal case in a Colorado court, and on one side was a testy lawyer and on the other a number of inexperienced attorneys. The arguments on both sides had been heard and the case closed for judgment.

Suddenly one of the inexperienced lawyers got up and addressed the court once more. The testy lawyer stood it for a moment, but losing patience, he also rose and addressed the court in this wise:

"Your honor, I would suggest, with all respect to the court, that my learned friend opposite is entirely out of order in addressing the court and, if I may be permitted to say so, the court has no right to be listening to him."

The court, who at this time was writing, put his head out in a beligerent way and said, "Mr. Jones, it is a great piece of impertinence on your part to assume that the court is listening to him."—Harper's.

AMERICAN

BOY SCOUTS ARE CHAMPIONSAMERICAN TROOPS WITH 181 POINTS WIN FIRST
PLACEBRITISH ARE SECOND WITH 172
POINTS, 30 NATIONS COM-PETING

New York, Aug. 26.—Cable despatches have just been received announcing that the troop representing the Boy Scouts of America at the International Jamboree concluded at Copenhagen yesterday, was awarded the World's championship. The American troop scored 181 points as against 172 points scored by the British Boy Scouts, who took second place. The scores of the troops representing the other twenty-nine nations are not available.

The American troop secured first place in canoeing, obstacle racing, for demonstration of baseball as national game, and individual first place for hiking, running and first aid. They were tied for first place for best camp, after three hours' work.

The program included, under Camp craft, Packing and Transportation, Equipment, Quick Camp Making, Best Camp after Three Hours' Work; Songs and Yells; National Folk Dancing; Camp Fire Entertainment; Scout Contests, including Measuring Heights, Judging Areas and Numbers, Pathfinding, Bread Baking and First Aid; Scout Contests, including Lariat Throwing, Handyman activities; Tree Climbing, Running, Throwing, Jumping; Canoe Trip, including Packing and Outfit, Paddling, Sailing, Capsizing, Camp-making, Portaging; Swimming Contests, including 100-yard demonstration, Diving, Life-Saving; Patrol Obstacle Race, which included demonstration of knowledge of various phases of Scouting, such as Scout Law, Signaling, Pathfinding, Stalking; Patrol 24 hour Hike; Camp Routine, including neatness of camp, Improvements, Cooking, Morning Exercise.

World Interested in Jamboree

The entire membership of the Scout Movement the world over, now numbering about 1,200,000 men and boys, and representing fifty-three nations, has been looking forward to this Jamboree since the one held at London in 1920. At that time the program was quite different, and America was represented by a group of 301 boys and 56 men and secured high honors. The program for the Jamboree at Copenhagen was planned so as to make possible an award for world troop championship in Scouting activities. The entire membership of the Boy Scouts of America, consisting of 687,000 men and boys, covering all parts of the United States, and representing more than half of the world scout membership, began last December to develop a representative troop to Copenhagen. Fifty-six boys were selected on merit, representing twenty-eight states and Hawaii, in 48 different localities. From these 56 boys, 48 were selected as the competing troop, the others being held in reserve as substitutes. The 56 Boy Scouts are as follows:

To Visit Five Countries

The troop was mobilized at the Boy Scout Camps in the Palisades Interstate Park on July 12th for two weeks of intensive training. While all of the boys were experienced scouts of high rank, 48 of them being Eagle Scouts, they were strangers to each other, and were organized in patrols and as a troop in such a way as to make possible their creditably representing the Boy Scout Movement in the United States of America. They sailed on the S. S. "Leviathan" on July 26th and spent a week in England, viewing the British Jamboree at Wembley and reached Copenhagen, Sunday, August 10th. At the close of the International Scout Jamboree, they became the guests of the Danish Boy Scouts and are the house guests of prominent citizens of Denmark. Friday they will again be mobilized and travel as a troop through Germany, Holland, Belgium and France, sailing from Cherbourg on the "Lancastria" on August 30th and arriving in New York on September 6th or 7th, when it is hoped that a suitable reception will be given to them.

Scout Heads Plan Welcome

President Colin H. Livingstone and Chief Scout Executive James E. West at the National Office this morning were especially jubilant over the cable dispatches that the American troop had won the World's Championship, and immediately began the development of plans for a suitable reception of the American troop upon its arrival in New York. In commenting on the significance of the success of the American Troop, Mr. West said: "Naturally, all of us who have had a part in planning for a troop to represent the Boy Scouts of America at the International Jamboree, are much gratified that our boys have won first place. We are especially happy because of the nature of the program, and the fact that our troop represents all parts of our country and was selected on merit. It is a splendid testimonial as to the effectiveness with which the scoutmasters of our 22,000 troops and the executives and other leaders of our 600 councils are interpreting Scouting in all parts of our vast country. It also demonstrates that we have, through organized effort, made our program available to hundreds of thousands of boys under conditions which prove to fairly reflect Scouting standards the world over. I hope that everyone of the 152,000 volunteer workers and each of the 554,000 scouts will share with us the happiness of the success of the troop and that we may be led to make a greater effort in giving to more boys of America the benefits of the Scouting Program."

Realize President's Wish

"It is highly gratifying to have evidence from the dispatches, that President Coolidge's hope, as expressed to our boys in his personal message to them on the eve of their departure that the 'participation of the American troop in this meeting of the boys of thirty nations, would contribute to the well-being, right-thinking and true-living of the whole world' has been fully realized."

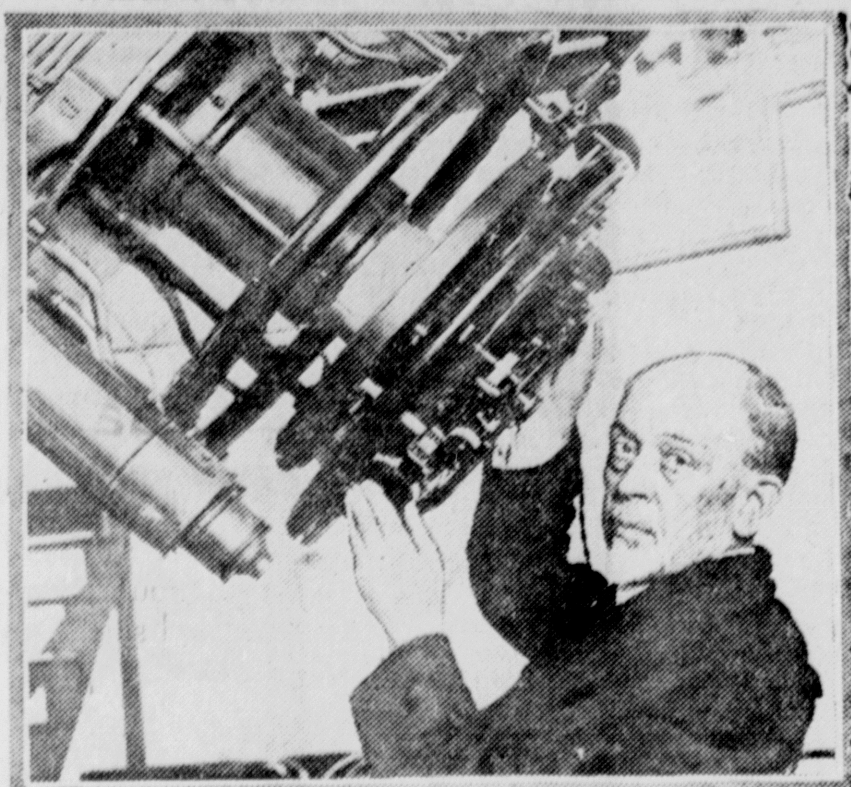

Cable dispatches show that the appearance and spirit of the American troop at Copenhagen has attracted very favorable notice and that there has been a very gratifying demand from the homes of influential people, for an opportunity to entertain the members of the American Troop.

GREAT NORTHERN
SILK TRAIN RECORDSPEEDS PACIFIC COAST TO CHI-CAGO IN LESS THAN 48 HOURS AND A HALF

(From St. Paul Daily News)

A new record between Yokohama and New York has been hung up.

A silk consignment made the trip in 12 days 14 hours and 36 minutes, smashing the previous world record of 13 days 3 hours and 8 minutes.

This record was made several months ago.

The new record scores a big victory for the United States in the most dramatic of the races of commerce, the raw silk transport race.

The Great Northern railway was a big factor in establishing this world's record, hauling a special cargo of silk over its line 1,784 miles from Seattle to St. Paul in the swift time of 38 hours 50 minutes. This was an average speed of 45.9 miles per hour, faster than the fastest of any of the crack passenger trains of the country.

The entire course of this race was 8,300 miles. Swiftest steamships, special trains, seaplanes and airplanes participated. But there was no cheering crowd because every mile of the race had to be concealed with the closest secrecy.

The stakes amounted to millions. There is a reason why silk is rushed from Yokohama to New York at breakneck speed, outdistancing the best passenger service. With the exception of gold and silver bullion, silk probably is the most precious commodity, weight for weight, transported on a large scale by commerce. A single special train hauls $5,000,000 worth of silk. Just as it costs dearly to ship money, high charges are put on silk shipments. The saving of two days' sailing time between Yokohama and Seattle makes a difference of 50 cents a bale at New York. Interest on the millions of dollars tied up multiplies at the rate of thousands of dollars a day and in addition there is costly insurance.

In the silk trade time literally means money.

Special port forces move the rich consignment in three hours to the silk train waiting with steam up.

The swift Oriental Limited trains take 70 hours to reach Chicago; the "reefer" as the silk special is known to railroaders, made it in 48 hours 24 minutes, a total of 73 hours across the continent from Seattle to Jersey City.

"Revelation," Metro's screen classic, which has its last showing tonight at the Lyceum Theatre, is without doubt one of the finest pictures of the season.

There are three reasons for this. First, Mabel Wagnall's story of the little Parisian model who won her soul back through the gentle influence of posing as the Madonna,

Second, the picture has a wonderful all-star cast that includes Viola Dana, Monte Blue, Lew Cody, Marguerite Daw, Frank Currier, Edward Connelly, George Siegmund, Kathleen Key, Otto Matiesen, Bruce Guerin, and Ethel Wales. DAIRY TRAIN SPECIAL SEPTEMBER THIRD

Committee Earnestly Working to Sell 125 Tickets For Special Train

TO ATTEND N. W. DAIRY SHOW

A. J. Hayes Chairman and Treasurer of the Movement Hopes For Success

The committee working to secure passengers for the dairy special train to the state fair on September 3rd, met at the Chamber of Commerce on Monday afternoon.

A. J. Hayes acted as chairman of the meeting, in place of E. G. Roth, who will not be able to devote his time to the work. Mr. Hayes outlined his plans for the sale of the tickets, stating that it was his intention to have representatives at the county fair at Pequot on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, to sell tickets to the farmers who intend to go to the state fair. The Rotary and Lions clubs will be asked to assist in the ticket sale also.

It was pointed out that if 125
tickets can be sold, a special train can be secured from Brainerd to Minneapolis and return. The fare would be $6.12, much cheaper than the trip could be made by automobile, as some of those who are going had planned.
In going by car there is the grave danger of having the automobile stolen in the cities.

It was explained that in the event a sufficient number of tickets were not sold to insure a special train, the holders of the tickets could use them on a regular train, and would thus save quite a substantial amount in fare.

A representative of the Northern Pacific was at the meeting, and said that it was planned to have the train leave Brainerd at seven o'clock on the morning of September 3rd, and that it would run on a schedule similar to that of the North Coast Limited, arriving in Minneapolis shortly after ten o'clock. The return trip would be made on any train before September 8.

Each member of the committee took a number of tickets to sell.
These tickets are to be turned in by the holder at the depot for a regular railway ticket for use on the train.

HENRY DITMAR KILLED IN CHINA

Accidentally Falls From Scaffold at Fushon, China, Colliery Works

WELL KNOWN IN BRAINERD

Young Ditmar Was Son of Mrs.
Carolina Ditmar, Formerly of Ransford Hotel

The sad intelligence has been received by R. R. Wise of the death of Henry Ditmar, caused by falling from a scaffold at Fushon, China.

Mr. Ditmar was a Brainerd boy, son of Mrs. Carolina Ditmar, now of Perham, Minn., but connected with Ransford hotel, this city, for a number of years.

Mr. Ditmar was Superintendent of Railroad and Hoists of Fushon Colliery, Fushon, China, the largest in the world.

He was in the height of his manhood, with everything promising a most active and brilliant career in his chosen profession, and news of his untimely death will be received with true sorrow by the many friends of both himself and his mother. He leaves a mother, wife, and several brothers, to all of whom the sincere sympathy of the community is extended.

Ladies Aid

The ladies aid society of the Bethlehem Evangelical church, corner Main and Bluff, will meet in the church basement on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. It is very important that all the members are present at this meeting as business of importance will be up for discussion. Mrs.
A. F. Wendt will entertain after the meeting and extend a cordial invitation to the friends of the church.
The men of the church are especially invited to have their supper with the ladies after shop hours.

Birthday Club

The Birthday club of the Swedish Bethany church will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Orvid Rosberg, 1623 Norwood Southeast.
Members are urged to be present.
Visitors are welcome.

CAR SPEEDERS HIT AND KILL A COW

THREW COW INTO THE AIR
In Falling Down, Cow Was Struck
Again and Thrown Near Boy Who Had Led Her

Speeders on the Gull lake road late Saturday afternoon struck and killed a cow and escaped an accident themselves in quite a remarkable manner, it is reported.

Mrs. Thurley lives on Round lake, at "Old Kentucky Lodge," close to the highway. The Thurley's spend their summers there and the balance of the year in the South. They keep one cow in a pasture near the cottage, and the Bentley's living across the road, have several cows in the same pasture.

On Saturday afternoon the Bent-ley's brought their cattle home and the Thurley cow went with them.
Mrs. Thurley's small son went over to bring the cow home, and as they were crossing the highway, a big Lincoln car, headed north, bore down upon them, traveling at a terrific speed. The car struck the cow, throwing her into the air. When she came down the automobile hit her again and threw her to one side of the road, within a few feet of Mrs.
Thurley's son.

The car did not slow down, but disappeared before more than the first two numbers on the license plate could be taken.

With one of the deputy sheriffs, Mrs. Thurley made a search of the northern part of the county on Sunday, and at one of the lake resorts came upon two young men repairing a Lincoln car which they stated had been damaged by hitting a tree. The deputy sheriff found cow-hair on the radiator, and stated that it must have been a queer tree that was hit.
The young men willingly paid for the cow, and the matter has been considered closed.

FIRE AT DR. BEISE HOME

Feathers Near Gas Range Caught Fire and Floated About the Chimney

Firemen at about ten o'clock Tuesday morning answered a call to the home of Dr. R. A. Beise, 621 North Fourth street.

The alarm was sent in because feathers from chickens that were being prepared near the gas range had caught fire and were floating about the chimney.

No damage, other than smoke in the kitchen, was done, the fire being put out before the department arrived.

Judge Stanton Now On Way Home From Europe

Judge C. W. Stanton of the Fifteenth judicial district is expected to return home to Bemidji next Saturday or Sunday after a short trip to Europe where he attended the meetings of the American Bar association at London and visited other points of interest. According to word received from him by his daughter, Miss Leila Stanton and others here, he left Cherbourg, France for Toronto, Canada, August 15 and is expected to reach Toronto tomorrow.

Miss Stanton expects to leave Monday for Duluth, from where she and her brother, H. Mayne Stanton will go to Port Arthur by car to meet their father next Thursday, returning to Bemidji Saturday or Sunday.
The Judge spent a week in London, and ten days in Scotland and England. He also spent several days in Paris and other points in France before sailing for home.—Bemidji

SUN, MOON AND STARS AT NOON HOUR

Sun, moon and stars associated in the line of the old hymn were in evidence at one time in Brainerd near the noon hour. Luna was well defined and to the southwest of the lower horn loomed a star of great magnitude.

Jupiter now has an evening date, and so local astronomers reason it may be Venus staying out late.

MRS. JAMES INGRAM DIED

Her Husband Was Prominent in the Northern Minnesota Lumber
ing Industry

Word was received in Brainerd
Monday afternoon, of the death of Mrs. James Ingram, former resident of Pequot, and very well known in Brainerd and throughout the county. Mrs. Ingram passed away at two o'clock Saturday afternoon at St.
Cloud. She was enroute to her home in Sauk Center from Flint, Michigan, where she had been visiting her sister.

Mrs. Ingram had many friends in Brainerd, who will learn of her death with sincere regret. Her husband was a prominent figure in the northern Minnesota lumbering industry.
He was killed in an automobile accident near Akeley several years ago.

Since her husband's death, Mrs.
Ingram has made her home in Sauk Center. She leaves no children, but a niece, Beatrice Martin, has made her home with her aunt for a number of years, and was a student in the Junior class in the high school last year.

Mrs. Ingram's funeral was held this (Tuesday) afternoon at two o'clock, in Sauk Center. Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Schrader motored there to be in attendance. Those from Pe-quot making the trip included Mr.
and Mrs. Julius Nelson, Mrs. J. C.
Marshall and Mrs. F. G. Schrader.

CAR OF BARLEY SHIPPED MONDAY

Peter Nyman and Peter Swanson together shipped a carload of barley Monday of this week to Duluth through the Pillager Shipping Ass'n.

turning out good. The barley shipped by these men running in the neighborhood of 40 bushels to the acre.—Pillager Herald.

AMERICAN LEGION "PULLMAN CITY"

500 to 600 Pullmans to be Parked at St. Paul to Assist Housing Throng

PROPOSITION IS EXPLAINED

L. P. Gellerman, Traveling Passenger Agent of Northern Pacific, Seeks to Interest Legionnaires

L. P. Gellerman, traveling passenger agent of the Northern Pacific railway company, was in the city yesterday seeking to interest American Legion members in regard to the proposition of chartering tourist sleepers for the coming national convention at St. Paul.

Hotel accommodations will be at a premium, said Mr. Gellerman, and advised that reservations for sleepers was the only way to solve the housing problem. For instance, a tourist sleeper may be chartered for a period of six days with a minimum of 25 to the sleeper at a cost of approximately $10 per capita for the six days. This would give sleeping accommodations to and from St. Paul, also five days' occupancy at St. Paul.
There cars are parked at St. Paul, convenient of access. The Union Depot company have made great preparations for their "Pullman City" as they call it, and no doubt from 500 to 600 cars will be parked during the convention.

If the Brainerd Legion boys wish to take advantage of the tourist sleeper proposition, they should arrange to see Mr. Mosier, the station agent, at once. The railroads are making a one fare round trip for the St. Paul convention, for members of the American Legion, Women's Auxiliary and widows of soldiers killed in the war.

The "Pullman City" is something of interest to all Brainerd Elks, for on this will rest part of the housing of the great state convention of Elks which Brainerd will entertain next year. When such a Pullman city is established, connections are made with city lighting, etc. Cars will be watered and feed every day.

THREE CHARGED WITH ROBBERY

Fred Gonja, Frank Schultz and Joe Stark Arraigned in Municipal Court

ALLEGED VICTIM'S STORY

Victor Kochaver Claims Trio Stole
From Him $5.30 Cash, Knife and Watch

Fred Gonja, Frank Schultz and Joe Stark were arraigned in municipal court on Monday afternoon charged with robbery in the third degree, in that they took $5.30 in cash, a pocket knife and a watch from Victor Kochaver on the night of August 22nd.

Schultz and Stark demanded an examination, which was given in municipal court on Tuesday morning.
Gonja waived examination.

Kochaver was the first witness called in the examination. He stated that with the three defendants he "caught" a ride on a freight train out of Staples, headed east. They changed to another freight train at Brainerd headed for Duluth, Kocha-ver wishing to get to his home at Virginia, Minn.

When the train was between Brainerd and Deerwood, Kochaver testified that his three companions held him up, Gonja holding him from the rear while the other two stripped him of his clothing, took what valuables he had and made him dress again. They then took him to the open door of the freight car in which he was riding and threw him from the train when he refused to jump at their command. The train, it was stated was traveling about 35 miles per hour. The robbery occurred about twelve-thirty in the morning.

Kochaver, although badly bruised and scratched, was not seriously injured, fortunately falling in some soft ground. He walked three miles to Deerwood and notified authorities of the robbery.

Special agents of the Northern Pacific caught Gonja, Schultz and Stark when they got off the train at Carleton. Kochaver identified the three as the men who had accosted him, and Sheriff Fred Reid brought them back to Brainerd.

Others who testified at the examination Tuesday morning included Sheriff Reid and E. J. Williams, special agent for the railway, whose men took the three suspects into custody.

Gonja, Schultz and Stark were ordered held and bound over to the next general term of the district court, and committed to the county jail in the meantime.

LOST 2,000,000 FRANKS ON OLYMPICS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Aug. 26.—Poor judgment in the selection of locations and bad management in the promotion of the program caused the French Olympic committee to turn up at the completion of the Paris games with a deficit of two million francs. This represented a little more than $100,000. Half of the loss was covered by insurance and the other half had to be borne by the government.

When asked if the experience of the French committee didn't make them less anxious to accept the responsibility for the 1928 games, one of the members of the Amsterdam committee replied that they expected to make money out of their games because they intended to apply business methods to the promotion and organization of the games.

The Colombes stadium, where the track and field games were held, was too far from the city. Train service was terrible and it was a 35-minute trip in a cab. The ordinary Frenchman couldn't afford to hire a cab, and those with money didn't feel inclined to do it. With the exception of the final matches in the rugby and soccer football competition, the Pershing stadium, erected by the engineers of the A. E. F., and presented to Paris, would have been adequate and just as good as the Colombes stadium, and it would have been much more accessible.

The committee spent about 250,000 francs building a tennis plant back of the athletic stadium. It was also too far from the city and, with the exception of the final matches, there were only a few hundred in the stands. It was a miserable place, and the tournament was horribly handled by the insolent Allen Muhr.

Muhr, who professes to be an American, visited the United States last summer and was entertained royally at Forest Hills and Germantown. He pleaded with the United States Lawn Tennis Association to send a team to the Olympic games, pointing out that the Americans would be a big drawing card.

When the same officials and players, who had acted as hosts to him, arrived in Paris, they found him guilty of a very short memory. He didn't remember, or he didn't have time to recall all the favors that had been done for him, and he proceeded to treat the players like a bunch of third-rate prize-fighters.

The details have been printed before. There is only one regret now, and that is that Julian S. Myrick, the association official in charge of the team, didn't pull the Americans out of the tournament after the first day. All the English-speaking teams would have followed the Americans.

Col. A. R. F. Kingscote, the captain of the British team, was more aroused than Myrick, but for political reasons he did not want to talk. He told newspapermen, however, that Myrick could talk and act for the British and New Zealand teams.

Muhr was insolent and insulting, until Myrick pointed out to him that he would have a fine bust of a tournament if Helen Wills, Vinnie Richards and Kathleen McKane should decide not to play. Muhr has a strain in him that responds violently to any suggestion of financial losses, and he was forced to make some concessions.

The Olympic tennis tournament should have been held at St. Cloud, where all the machinery needed was available and where the tournament could not have been in the hands of Muhr.

Even with proper management, it is doubtful if the games could have been a financial success. France is not a sporting nation like England, the United States and the northern countries. There were too many sideshow events in which there was no interest. Yachting, for instance, has no place on an Olympic program. Weight lifting is a silly event, and gymnastics offer no great thrill to a crowd. The only essential sports are track and field athletics, swimming, rowing and boxing.

Los Angeles, in 1932, probably could take the same program staged in Paris and make a success out of it. It is quite certain that no efficient American committee could lose $150,000 promoting the games, because there would be experienced business men in charge, and they would not act with the idea in mind of making it hard for the public and making the customers mad, as they did in Paris.

One favorite trick employed by the French was to sell a cheap admission ticket and then tell the possessor, when he got inside the walls, that he couldn't get into the stadium. He would then have to buy another ticket.

The English and American athletes were also given the poorest section in the stands. The athletes who were not competing were forced to watch the games from a position where it was almost impossible to see the finish line. The seats cost the committee nothing, as they couldn't have sold them.

One, and perhaps the only, fine result that came of the games was the very close alliance that was brought about between the British and American athletes. Friendly relations were started in Antwerp, where the two teams were forced to ally in defense, and the bonds of friendship were strengthened in Paris for the same reason.

First Hit of League Season Proves Costly

His first hit of the season in a Northern Minnesota League baseball game proved rather costly for Pete Johnson, who is frequently seen in the Bemidji outfield. Last Sunday against Bagley, Pete chalked up his first safe hit of the league season and his second safe hit of the year when he clouted a nice one over second base, but between first and second a little later he collided with a Bagley infielder with the result that his neck was badly wrenched and a ligament strained. He is now wearing his neck in a cast and playing ball tomorrow is absolutely out of the question for him. Pete is an old reliable on the Bemidji team, however, and is expected to help keep the bench warm Sunday even though he is not expected to play.—Bemidji Daily Pioneer.

NATIONAL SPRINT TITLES IN NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 26.—Following his record-breaking performance Saturday when he ran 250 yards in 25 2-5 seconds, Charley Paddock, California sprinter, announced he would remain here and compete in the national championships at West Orange, N. J., next month.

"I'm running as well as I ever did, and I want those national sprint titles."

PRINCE OF WALES WINS TITLE OF SHIP'S BEST BOXER

HAS WORKOUT WITH FORMER PROFESSIONAL GEORGE MASON

BERENGARIA'S PASSENGERS ENTHUSIASTIC OVER PRINCE'S PROWESS

By CHARLES W. SUTTON
(Written for United Press)

(Copyrighted, 1924, by United Press)
Aboard the Berengaria, Aug. 26.—The Prince of Wales has received a new title—that of the best boxer among the passengers on board the Berengaria. The prince won this title after a workout with former professional George Mason, who was enthusiastic about his royal highness' ability.

The weather continues perfect and the prince appears to be enjoying every minute of the trip.

There was a flutter of excitement among the girls on ship board when it was announced that the prince would probably dance at one of the evening balls, and it is certain that every girl will try for at least one dance with him.

It is understood on board that the prince is planning to disembark from the Berengaria off Oyster Bay in a specially chartered launch.

He will go to Washington on a special train. His luncheon with President Coolidge will be entirely private and informal.

ENGLISH POLO TEAM BEATEN IN PRACTICE

Port Washington, Aug. 26.—The English polo team which is to meet the American team in the coming international matches, was defeated 15 to 6 by a team of American players, consisting of Hopping, East, Cowdoin and Wanamaker, none of whom are on the big American team.

Frisky Filly

Miss Sarah is "getting along in years," a fact she is unwilling to admit. She wears very youthful clothes; she has been described by a facetious neighbor as "sheep dressed lamb-fashion." And sometimes when the world pushes her into a niche where it thinks she belongs, Miss Sarah rebels.

One day she was talking merrily to a party of young girls. Her cheeks were pink and her little curls fluttering. She laughed a great deal.

"Oh, Miss Sarah," at last exclaimed one of the girls innocently, "how gay you must have been in those days!"
"Have been?" repeated the lady, indignantly. "Have been! Well, I'd have you know I'm not a centurian yet!"—Los Angeles Times.

Church Sittings Sold

In certain sections of England it is still customary to sell by auction, pews in the parish church. The highest bidder secures the use of the pew for a year. On the east coast of Scotland it was quite common 30 or 40 years ago to see an advertisement in the local press offering, say, one or two "bottom breadths" in such-and-such a pew in the parish church. The pews were freehold, and paid taxes in the same way as a freehold dwelling house. Another reader recalls particulars of a church pew sale which stated that it "produced so much per ann., free of rates and taxes," and that it was "in a good position," and rent regularly paid.

Republic Founded by Monk

The republic of San Marino, the second smallest independent state in Europe, is said to have been founded by Marinus, a Dalmatian monk, some time in the fourth century. San Marino has never lost its independence.

MINNESOTA BASEBALL

Bemidji—Bemidji ran away from Gonvick, defeating them 9 to 0 here in a Northern Minnesota league game. Chase was in rare form while Stewart was hit freely. Bemidji retained the league lead by virtue of their victory.

Albert Lea—Playing errorless ball the Albert Lea Tigers of the Iowa-Minnesota league, defeated the Mason City Boosters 8 to 2 here.

Johnson was on the mound for the Tigers while Grant did the hurling for the Boosters. Johnson struck out nine men and did not allow a runner to first base until the sixth inning, while Grant struck out four.

St. Cloud—Little Falls met defeat at the hands of Cold Springs baseball team here 4 to 3. Little Falls led until the ninth inning when Cold Springs rallied and scored three runs. Two former Milers, Shauers and Leverette, each struck out 10 men.

Clear Lake—St. Cloud defeated Clear Lake 7 to 2 here in a runaway game. Henry, pitching for the winners, allowed the locals only four hits. Nelson, the local hurler was not so effective.

Willmar—Willmar easily trimmed De Graff at De Graff. The score was 14 to 2. The winners knocked out 18 hits, of which two were three baggers and five two-base hits.

Faribault—Faribault defeated Owatonna in an 11-inning game by the score of 8 to 7 in the closing match of the Southern Minnesota league here. The game was nip and tuck all the way.

Austin—Austin won the closing match in the Southern Minnesota league here with a 2 to 0 victory over Blooming Prairie in a slow game.

Mankato—St. James baseball team raided Mankato, bringing 500 rooters to watch them defeat Mankato 3 to 1 in the last scheduled game of the season in the Southern Minnesota league.

LOST 2,000,000 FRANKS ON OLYMPICS

Aboard the Berengaria, Aug. 26.—The Prince of Wales has received a new title—that of the best boxer among the passengers on board the Berengaria. The prince won this title after a workout with former professional George Mason, who was enthusiastic about his royal highness' ability.

The weather continues perfect and the prince appears to be enjoying every minute of the trip.

There was a flutter of excitement among the girls on ship board when it was announced that the prince would probably dance at one of the evening balls, and it is certain that every girl will try for at least one dance with him.

It is understood on board that the prince is planning to disembark from the Berengaria off Oyster Bay in a specially chartered launch.

He will go to Washington on a special train. His luncheon with President Coolidge will be entirely private and informal.

ENGLISH POLO TEAM BEATEN IN PRACTICE

Port Washington, Aug. 26.—The English polo team which is to meet the American team in the coming international matches, was defeated 15 to 6 by a team of American players, consisting of Hopping, East, Cowdoin and Wanamaker, none of whom are on the big American team.

Frisky Filly

Miss Sarah is "kidding along in years," a fact she is unwilling to admit. She wears very youthful clothes; she has been described by a facetious neighbor as "sheep dressed lamb-fashion." And sometimes when the world pushes her into a niche where it thinks she belongs, Miss Sarah rebels.

One day she was talking merrily to a party of young girls. Her cheeks were pink and her little curls fluttering. She laughed a great deal.

"Oh, Miss Sarah," at last exclaimed one of the girls innocently, "how gay you must have been in those days!"

"Have been?" repeated the lady, indignantly. "Have been! Well, I'd have you know I'm not a centurian yet!"—Los Angeles Times.

Church Sittings Sold

In certain sections of England it is still customary to sell by auction, pews in the parish church. The highest bidder secures the use of the pew for a year. On the east coast of Scotland it was quite common 30 or 40 years ago to see an advertisement in the local press offering, say, one or two "bottom breadths" in such-and-such a pew in the parish church. The pews were freehold, and paid taxes in the same way as a freehold dwelling house. Another reader recalls particulars of a church pew sale which stated that it "produced so much per man, free of rates and taxes," and that it was "in a good position," and rent regularly per lot.

Republic Founded by Monk

The republic of San Marino, the second smallest independent state in Europe, is said to have been founded by Marinus, a Dalmatian monk, some time in the fourth century. San Marino has never lost its independence.

MINNESOTA BASEBALL

Bemidji—Bemidji ran away from Gonvick, defeating them 9 to 0 here in a Northern Minnesota league game. Chase was in rare form while Stewart was hit freely. Bemidji retained the league lead by virtue of their victory.

Albert Lea—Playing errorless ball the Albert Lea Tigers of the Iowa-Minnesota league, defeated the Mason City Boosters 8 to 2 here.

Johnson was on the mound for the Tigers while Grant did the hurling for the Boosters. Johnson struck out nine men and did not allow a runner to first base until the sixth inning, while Grant struck out four.

St. Cloud—Little Falls met defeat at the hands of Cold Springs baseball team here 4 to 3. Little Falls led until the ninth inning when Cold Springs rallied and scored three runs. Two former Milers, Shauers and Leverette, each struck out 10 men.

Clear Lake—St. Cloud defeated Clear Lake 7 to 2 here in a runaway game. Henry, pitching for the winners, allowed the locals only four hits. Nelson, the local hurler was not so effective.

Willmar—Willmar easily trimmed De Graff at De Graff. The score was 14 to 2. The winners knocked out 18 hits, of which two were three baggers and five two-base hits.

Faribault—Faribault defeated Owatonna in an 11-inning game by the score of 8 to 7 in the closing match of the Southern Minnesota league here. The game was nip and tuck all the way.

Austin—Austin won the closing match in the Southern Minnesota league here with a 2 to 0 victory over Blooming Prairie in a slow game.

Mankato—St. James baseball team raided Mankato, bringing 500 rooters to watch them defeat Mankato 3 to 1 in the last scheduled game of the season in the Southern Minnesota league.
